Glee Clubs Sing In Masterly Way To 1,800 Audience

Hudson Valley Glee Clubs, Assisted by Two Noted Artists, Third Record Audience, Which Marvels That Such Perfection Could Be Obtained With Only One Rehearsal.

More than eighteen hundred people filled Rensselaer theatre Wednesday night and listened with undivided enthusiasm and sincere appreciation to the finest concert ever heard in this city which was given by the seven glee clubs comprising the Hudson River Glee Clubs, numbering three hundred voices, assisted by Miss Gilda Erastine, soprano, of New York city, and Charles Gilbert Spröss of Poughkeepsie, accompanist. Every seat in the theatre was occupied and a number of patrons stood throughout the entire concert. The audience itself had been splendidly trained for music through the concerts its members have heard from the various glee clubs in their home cities and was artistically as well as enthusiastically appreciative of an evening of music that was thrilling in the broadest sense of that word. Appreciation was accompanied by gratitude for those responsible for giving Kingston such an unprecedented musical treat.

In delightful contrast with the singing of the men, whose voices responded to the three conductors of the evening, Miss Erastine, who was the evening's soloist, sang a number of songs which were given an ovation such as Kingston audiences seldom accord to an individual singer.

The outstanding feature of the concert was the fact that with only one rehearsal, three hundred men, coming from six different communities, could sing with such precision of attack and release, perfection of pitch, clean-cut enunciation, unity of interpretation and almost perfect ensemble. Each of the three conductors had a marvellously resonant and musical instrument upon which to play his particular number.

Opening Number Stirring Audience.

When the curtain rose upon the stage of three hundred men—some youths, many with silvered hair, but all keen for the joy of singing—there was a most inspiring sight. Elmer A. Midmar, conductor of the Schenectady and Troy clubs, was the first master conductor whose baton "The Viking Song" by S. Coleridge Taylor, with its inclusive "Clang, clang, clang on the anvil" was splendidly given, the unusual passages being sung as by one man. It led up to the audience to the highest anticipation as to the rest of the program.

In vivid contrast was "Where My Caravan Has Rested" by Herman Lohr, which was thrilling, yet delicate, especially in the pianissimo passages, and the fascinating modulation at the end of each verse. There was spirit and dash to "Rolling Down to Rio" by Edward German. And then came that splendid man's song, the "Soldiers' Chorus" from the opera "Faust" by Gounod. The marching throb was enough to send shivers down one's spine, while the marvellous shading charmed and the inherent spirit of patriotism gripped one. The singers were obliged to repeat the number.

A very pleasing, gracious personality and a beautiful soprano voice, even in tonality throughout its wide range, at once put Miss Erastine in rare favor with her listeners, both in the auditorium and on the stage. It was a delight to listen to a fresh, fine, unforced voice coupled with an artistic interpretation of the songs sung, and Miss Erastine was obliged to give an encore number, "Daisy, Daisy" to her first solo, an aria "Ah! Fors e lui" from "Traviata" by Verdi.

Second Group of Songs.

Mr. Baird, conductor of the Middletown and the Orpheus Club of Poughkeepsie, was the guest conductor of the second group of songs. The Hudson Valley Glee Clubs gave their audience a real inspiration in their magnificent singing of "I've Got a Feeling" by Bruno Huhn. In complete contrast was "Morning" by Oley Speake, with its misty coloring, its vivid joy of light and love. It was beautifully sung. One of the finest numbers on the program was "The Bell Man" (Stratford, April 22, 1616, Shakespeare's death-day), by Cecil Forsyth, as it was sung under Mr. Baird's conducting. With its haunting, vibrating clock strokes, and its strange tale, it was a musical gem. "The Lost Chord" by Arthur Sullivan, with Mr. Spröss at the organ, was encored to the echo, and was repeated to the delight of the audience.

When Miss Erastine sang her group of songs, she proved what a versatile singer she was, giving "La Capriera" by Benedetti, with charm; "Doubtless" by Lowell, with feeling; and "Money Chime" by Strickland, so captivately, especially as she repeated the last verse just for the chorus, that she was encored again and again, particularly by her listeners on the stage, who were twenty alive to the beauty of her singing. The last song was Mr. Spröss' "That's the World in June," and the discrimination audience showed that it resounded to the applause she would sing the "Waltz of the Wives" and the old "What's New" she sang it with a remarkably pleasing interpretation.

Maurice, Famous Dancer, Is Dead

Maurice Oscar Louis Mouvet, Dance Ideal of Two Continents, Dies of Tuberculosis in Lausanne, Switzerland.

New York, May 19 (AP)—A boy from the sidewalks of New York who became the dance idol of two continents in the colorful story of Maurice, the dancer, who died last night. Death came in Lausanne, Switzerland, of tuberculosis which he had fought for years. At his side was Eleanor Ambrose, his wife and dancing partner and the last of five women who played prominent parts in the life of the ballroom favorite.

Maurice Oscar Louis Mouvet, to use his full name, was born in 1889 of Belgian parents in the tenement district of New York's west side. After attending school here he entered Chatham college, Rochester, England. He later went to Paris, became a page in a hotel and at the Automobile Club, then a chauffeur and finally emerged at the age of 18 as Maurice, the dancer.

He made his debut in the Mont Martre district of Paris and the gracefulness of his art soon won him prominence. He became a favorite of Europe.

In 1911 he returned to the United States with Madeleine, a French dancer, as his partner. They appeared at Louis Martin's restaurant and their success was immediate. But Madeleine married and marriage of his partners was to become the theme of Maurice's life. Joan Sawyer, whom Maurice worked with in stage productions under Florenz Ziegfeld and Charles Dillingham, also deserted him for the marriage altar.

Next was Florence Walton, whom Maurice lifted from a Broadway chorus to become almost as internationally known as himself. They toured Europe and were received with acclaim. They were married in Paris but the team—domestic and professional—was dissolved when Miss Walton obtained a divorce in 1920.

Maurice, for his next partner went to a Brooklyn telephone exchange where he found the beautiful Leonora Hughes. But she left him to marry Carlos Ortiz Basualdo, wealthy Argentine. Maurice wept at the wedding in St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Barbara Bennett, daughter of Richard Bennett, the actor, filled the place as his partner for a brief time, but differences arose and the partnership was dissolved. Then the dancer discovered the girl he had been "claiming" for twenty years, Eleanor Ambrose. They were married in Paris in April 1926.

Y. M. C. A. Drive Nets $10,839.51 In Three Days

Campaign Must Bring in $14,100.49 to Reach Goal, But Enthusiastic Workers Show No Sign of Weariness in Their Work—Team No. 11 Now Leading.

With three of the eight days of the Y. M. C. A. Campaign gone, a total of $10,839.51 has been subscribed, leaving $14,100.49 to get in the remaining days of the campaign. Charles Ramsey, president of the Y. M. C. A., says that when this fund is completed the "Y" will be in a first class condition for carrying on the large work it is doing.

The reports Wednesday night were greeted with great enthusiasm. Team Eleven, comprised of Gordon Craig, captain; and Ernest LeFevre, E. J. Hillis, Wilson C. Ingalls, William S. Jackson, V. F. Brenn, Dr. Julius L. Gifford, Frank S. Hyatt, carried off the high honors by turning in the largest amount for the day.

This puts Team Eleven in the lead.

Six Leading Teams.

A number of changes in the lineup of the six leading Spizerinkum Cup defenders resulted. The six leading teams now are:

Team, Captain, Amount

11 G. A. Craig, $1,418.00

4 R. L. Marchant, 970.00

5 Thomas Rowland, 903.00

19 James W. Scott, 698.00

10 H. B. Wesley, 675.00

9 Louis Cole, 658.00

The Make Way division emerged from Wednesday night's meeting. Max L. Reben, manager, said that his men had done so well that he wanted to change the name from Make Way to Make Hay division. He said they would make hay whether the sun shines or not.

New stars in the Spizerinkum Cup are:

Gold Star—John C. Porter.

Red Star—Gordon A. Craig, Clarence S. Rowland.

The number cited for this special distinction is growing every day.

The speaker for the evening was Scout Executive Howard N. Smith. He is an enthusiastic worker in the campaign. He compressed a half hour speech into three minutes.

"There are," he said, "three things I want to say: First, I believe in the boys of Kingston; second, I believe in the Young Men's Christian Association and its program for young men and boys; I spent 20 years of my life as a Y. M. C. A. secretary; and third, I believe in the men who are carrying on the Y. M. C. A. work—President Ramsey, the board of directors, the secretarial staff and the committee."

These three facts were adequate reasons, Smith said, why this campaign must succeed.

Team and Division Standings.

The team and division standings to date are as follows:

Booster Division—C. A. Balz.

Team, Captain, Sub.	Am.
1. Wm. Jones, 23	$ 324.00
2. L. S. Decker, 38	635.00

13. Henry D. Fagher, 25	320.00
14. W. H. Niles, 20	596.00
15. C. Wolfenstein, 28	488.01
Total	169 $3,141.01

Go Getters Division—C. S. Treadwell.

16. W. A. Carl, 19	$ 377.00
17. Julian L. Gifford, 4	96.00
18. Arthur Quimby, 48	528.00
19. James Scott, 24	698.00
20. H. R. St. John, 20	313.00
Total	116 $2,012.00
Grand Total	604 $10,839.51

The meeting tonight will be at 6:15. Mr. Ramsey says that he looks for a fine report.

It was announced the success will come on the following basis:

It can be done if everybody sticks with this bunch until the final Monday night.

Everybody works as if success depends upon him.

Everybody averages at least three subscriptions per day.

Everybody qualifies for the Order of Spizerinkum stars.

WORKING SELLERS SPRAYER FOR NEW YORK PARKS

Leslie Herring of Ulster Park has sold to the City of New York a Friend sprayer of the largest size made, equipped with a four-cylinder engine and mounted on a two and one-half ton truck. The sprayer has a tank of 300 gallons capacity and will be used in spraying trees in the city parks. Mr. Herring is district sales agent for the Friend sprayer.

To Hear Compensation Claims.

Compensation claims will be heard in this city by Referee Williams at the court house at 9 a. m. on June 3, 10, 17 and 25.

Earl Elmendorf, Colored Bootblack, Badly Battered, Appeared in Police Court to Press Charge of Assault Against William McDaniel, Another Negro.

William McDaniel, 27 years old, was placed under arrest by Mrs. Margaret Elmendorf this morning and turned over to Officer Sashoff, who escorted William, a negro, to the county jail, where he has locked up on a charge of assault in the third degree.

Later in the morning Earl Elmendorf, the negro bootblack in Ryan's barbershop on East Strand, appeared at police headquarters, badly battered, to press the charge against McDaniel. According to Earl's story he was assaulted without cause or provocation at No. 59 Chambers street, by William, who picked up a frying pan and battered him over the head.

There is no question but that Earl had been battered with some article, for his shirt was spattered with blood which also covered his outer garments in streaks. He had been struck on the head and face and had bled profusely. He said McDaniel's nickname was "Blackjack" but it was a frying pan and not a blackjack that William had used on him.

Later at police headquarters William said he desired to retain Attorney Chris Flanagan to defend him and in police court entered a plea of not guilty. The hearing was adjourned to May 26.

Haddon Gray of Syracuse Freed

Queens County Grand Jury Refuses to Return an Indictment for Perjury Against Friend of Henry Judd Gray.

New York, May 19 (AP)—Haddon Gray of Syracuse has been officially absolved of any wrongdoing due to his testimony in the Snyder-Gray murder case.

The Queens county grand jury has refused to return an indictment for perjury against Gray, whom Henry Judd Gray, his friend, used in an attempt to frame an alibi to cover his part in the killing of Albert Snyder.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Dayton asked the indictment on the ground that the evidence given by Haddon Gray before the grand jury prior to the indictment of Judd Gray was at variance with the testimony he gave at the trial.

The grand jury is understood to have held that Haddon Gray did not intend to deceive the authorities and that whatever discrepancies occurred in his testimony was due to eagerness to aid his friend.

Residents Gather Possessions and Flee to Safety

Ominous Flood Warnings Cause Residents of West West Atchafalaya Basin to Flee—3,000 Persons in the Inundated Territory.

New Orleans, May 19 (AP)—Residents of the vast west Atchafalaya basin were gathering their possessions today and fleeing from their homes because of ominous flood warnings issued by federal weather authorities and John M. Parker, state relief director. Their homes are from 100 to 150 miles northwest of New Orleans. The section is on the route of the Gulf of Mexico expected to be followed by waters from the Bayou Des Glaises levee breaks and torrents pouring through crevasses in the Atchafalaya river at Melville, from which 1,000 men, women and children have departed. These floods converged forty miles below Bayou Des Glaises. A lake 250 miles long and from 150 to 100 miles wide was created.

A sudden inundation of an additional portion of St. Landry Parish, sending several feet of water into Beggs, Garland, Devision, Whiteville and into country surrounding Bunkie was reported. More than 5,000 persons were estimated to be in the inundated territory. Rescue workers were busy notifying them to rush to the southern Pacific railroad line where cars have been placed to take them out of the territory.

Refugee Camp Over Taxed.

The facilities of the refugee camp at Opelousas became over taxed yesterday and a new camp was established at Eunice, 18 miles away. Four thousand refugees have been registered at Opelousas. Some of them had been without food and water for 24 hours prior to their arrival at the Red Cross station.

The highway between Beggs and Bunkie has been closed to traffic. It is covered with four feet of water in some places. Conditions were reported to be growing steadily worse in the section around Bunkie. Rescue workers said that the stubbornness of the inhabitants in sticking to their homes was causing much trouble.

Started a Fire Under U. & D. Car

Policemen Bowser and Harnen Discover Passenger Coach on Fire and George Dunn Asleep in Coach—Extinguished Fire and Arrested Sleeper.

George Dunn, a tourist, on Wednesday night crawled into an empty Ulster & Delaware railroad passenger coach on the tracks between the Union Station and Thomas street, and curling up on one of the upholstered seats went to sleep.

About 1 o'clock this morning Policemen Bowser and Harnen discovered that the coach had been set on fire, and after some hard work managed to extinguish the flames. Someone had taken the waste out of the journal boxes and piled it under the coach and then lighted it.

After extinguishing the fire the officers entered the coach and found Dunn still sleeping. They escorted him to police headquarters where he was closely questioned but denied all knowledge of how the fire was started under the coach.

He was locked up in the county jail on a charge of disorderly conduct and later in the morning arraigned before Judge Shuffeldt, who discharged him with a suspended sentence.

Added Bids on Fischer Painting.

There is many a home in Kingston that would be made more beautiful by the possession of the beautiful painting by Anton Otto Fischer, which will be sold to the highest bidder on Saturday for the Mississippi Flood Relief Fund. The painting is being exhibited in the window of The Up-to-Date store and each day the highest bid for the day will be shown. Bidding started Wednesday at $50 and this bid has been materially increased.

Rotary Will Give $1,500 for Scouts

Money to Be Used for Permanent Club House for Boy Scouts, Available When Additional Sum Necessary is Provided and Title Vests in Trustees.

The Rotary Club luncheon meeting this week was without program and without oratory, but not without results. One result was the adopting of a resolution providing $1,500 for the building of a permanent club house for the Boy Scouts at their camp on the Wallkill, the money to be available at such time as the additional sum necessary has been provided and title to the camp property has been vested in the board of trustees made up of representatives of Kwanis, Rotary and such other organization or source of contributions as may be deemed advisable. The proposed building will cost about $3,300 and the other $1,800 is thought to be assured from another source that was only waiting for signs of life to be shown by some local organization.

Dr. George S. Warren, chairman of the Committee of Crippled Children, reported on a case in which treatment and surgery in a New York hospital had been successful, at a cost of $300. Rotary and Knights of Columbus each pay half of the bill.

At the luncheon next week the G. A. R. veterans will be the guests of Rotary and an appropriate program will be followed.

Standing committees for the year have been appointed by President Michael as follows:

Education in Rotary—J. T. Johnson, V. A. Gorman, A. D. Pardee.

Entertainment and Program—S. M. Watts, John Weber, Merton Gold.

Boys' Work—L. P. Willson, Stuart English, Martin Neely.

Fellowship—Chester Hall, Charles Doty, Chester DuMont.

Classification—Arthur Morrill, Emil G. Boessneck, Jr., John Porter.

International Rotary—Ernest Hicks, Joseph Garland, Frank Thompson.

Public Affairs—Charles Ramsey, William Niles, William O'Reilly.

Business Methods—E. Frank Flanagan, Schuyler C. Schultz, Frank Heimerle.

Membership—Edmund W. Hathaway, John Porter, Henry Fagher.

Lunatic Blows Up School, Killing 42 And Injuring 44

Grievance Over Trivial School Tax Blamed for Inciting Andrew Kehoe to Carry Out His Awful Deed—Wife First Victim of His Fury.

Bath, Mich., May 19 (AP)—Mrs. Andrew Kehoe, wife of the maniac who yesterday blew up the Consolidated School here, with a loss of 42 lives, his farm home and himself, was the first victim of his fury. It was established today. Portions of her body were found in the ashes of one of the outbuildings on the Kehoe farm. Her skull was crushed, leading to the belief Kehoe killed her before casting her body into the building to be burned.

With 36 of its children who yesterday romped through its streets lying still in death, this little village of some 300 persons was just beginning today to comprehend the full horror of the maniacal dynamiting yesterday. Forty-four others were seriously injured; no one knows the number of minor injuries.

Included in the dead is Kehoe, rovenge maddened farmer, treasurer of the township school board, who mined the school with dynamite and gun powder and blew himself into eternity after watching the blast tear the north wing of the school to pieces and hurl the bodies of its little pupils through windows and walls.

Only a whim of fate or accident prevented destruction of the entire village.

Planned Entire Destruction.

Investigation showed that Kehoe, angered because of a school tax levied against him and nursing his opposition to the erection of the building three years ago, had carefully mined the basement, installing an elaborate system of electrical wiring connected with a time clock. His plans seemingly called for destruction of the entire structure, with its more than 260 pupils and instructors. One of the wires he so carefully installed became short circuited and the electric impulse failed to complete its course. It was this failure that prevented the killing of more than 150 more pupils in another part of the building.

Three Explosions.

In all, there were three explosions. The first occurred early yesterday morning at Kehoe's home, about a mile west of the village, destroying the house, barn and wagon sheds. All apparently were wired to the same timing device.

The second blast was that in the school building. It came at 9:42 a. m., only a few minutes after classes had been assembled. The time has been fixed definitely because all of the clocks in the wrecked wing stopped at that minute. The third blast came in Kehoe's automobile in front of the school about 30 minutes later.

Kehoe was sitting in the car. Emory E. Huyck, superintendent of schools, was talking with him, one foot on the running board. Glenn O. Smith, village postmaster, and Nelson McFarren, an aged man, were standing on the sidewalk a few feet away. Suddenly a terrific blast came from the machine. The bodies of Kehoe and Huyck were blown to bits. McFarren was killed outright and Smith so badly injured that he died in a hospital shortly afterward.

Kehoe's car was torn to pieces. The rear wheels and differential were hurled across the road.

Looked Upon As a Sage.

Kehoe, who performed the work of destruction, was a graduate of Michigan State College and had been leader in community affairs since settling here several years ago. He was looked upon as a sort of a sage here, his superior schooling and extraordinary intelligence having been a marked trait to the residents of the simple community. Recently his demeanor suddenly changed, according to residents, and he showed signs of a persecutory complex. The comparatively trivial school tax levied against him was ruining him financially, he told acquaintances, and he became morose.

Officials of the school board, of which he was a member, were called upon and decided for the tax levy. He engaged in controversy with the members on every occasion and then suddenly his attacks ceased.

In the interlude, it was believed by officials he arrived upon the scheme of destroying the school and its occupants, the result of the dictates of his sick brain.

Public Hearing Here on May 31

Date Fixed for Giving Public Opportunity to Be Heard on Local Law Fixing Mayor's Salary at $3,000 Per Annum.

Tomorrow evening, May 31, at 7:30 o'clock a public hearing will be held at the city hall by Mayor E. J. Dempsey affording the public an opportunity to be heard in regard to Local Law No. 1 of 1927, which fixes the mayor's salary at $3,000 per annum, effective January 1, 1928.

At the meeting of the common council Tuesday evening the law was given its third and final reading and unanimously adopted by vote of the council.

Boy Hit by Car, Skull Fractured

Milton Arlensky, 9 Years Old, of Fair Street, Knocked Down by Truck Wednesday Afternoon—Condition Critical at Kingston City Hospital.

Milton Arlensky, 9 years old, of No. 72 Fair street, is in a critical condition at the Kingston City Hospital where he is being attended for a fractured skull received about 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when he was knocked down by a Dodge truck driven by William Grimm of No. 204 Broadway. Grimm was arrested for operating the truck without a registration card and this morning Judge Shuffeldt in police court discharged him with a suspended sentence. According to the police report of the accident Grimm was held blameless.

Grimm was driving the truck south on Fair street. Young Arlensky was in the road, riding a scooter, about four or five feet from the curb going in the same direction as the truck. As the truck approached, the young boy suddenly turned and ran directly in front of it.

The boy was knocked down and it was said that the front wheel of the truck passed over his body, but Dr. Daniel Connelly, who examined the lad at the hospital, said he could find no mark on the body that would show that the truck wheel had passed over the body.

Following the accident the boy was picked up and placed in Joseph Beichert's automobile and rushed to the hospital where he was found to be bleeding from the ears and mouth. An X-ray disclosed a fracture of the skull. Today it was stated that the boy's condition remained unchanged.

Colonel Roosevelt FORCED TO BED

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—An infected right foot, neglected the last six months while he attended to pressing business, forced Colonel Theodore Roosevelt to bed at his home today.

Colonel Roosevelt has been instructed by his doctor to rest for several days to give the foot a chance to heal. Inflammation developed when a nail of an abscess was expelled while Colonel Roosevelt was engaged with business matters. The trouble is not serious.

Katrine Grange To Aid in Pageant

The rapid development of a county mind is exemplified on every hand. Bruce Bennett, director of the Ulster County Pageant, could not be in two places at the same time, although it may be necessary for him to perform that feat before the curlew rings on the evening of June 30, so he sent B. M. Matteson, who has charge of the pageant publicity throughout the state, to Lake Katrine Grange last Monday night. The Grangers evinced a splendid spirit of cooperation. They took their participation in the pageant as a matter of course and had but one question to ask. They wanted to know what those in charge of the pageant needed most.

It is this unhesitating, favorable reaction, such as was shown by the Lake Katrine Grange, which is easing the minds of not the labors of the pageant committee.

The speaker inquired concerning the possibility of securing oxen in that section for the pageant picture. The Grangers said they knew of none, and after all the talk they had heard about the ox being barbecued during the progress of the pageant, they doubted the safety of bringing a yoke of oxen upon the pageant field on June 30. The fine, cheerful co-operative body of Grangers at Lake Katrine will appear in Dutch costumes on the pageant day.

Never mind the birthdays, it isn't how many years you have been living, but how many years you have really lived.

Self-Restraint

For want of self-restraint many men are engaged all their lives in fighting with difficulties of their own making, and rendering success impossible by their own crossgrained ungovernability. Whilst others, it may be much less gifted, make their way easily and steadily, and achieve success by simple patience, equanimity, and self-control.

In the Packard Eight You Will Find a New Delight in Motoring

IF YOU have never driven the Packard Eight you have never learned how truly luxurious motor travel can be.

You may have driven—you may now own—cars of the Packard Eight price. But we repeat that you cannot know how fine a motor car can be until you have personally taken the wheel of a Packard Eight and put it through its paces.

Whether you are in the market for such a car or not we would like to have you experience the sheer delight of driving the car which all owners agree is the greatest in the world. There is no obligation—if you do not buy we will be more than repaid in the enthusiastic story you will tell your friends.

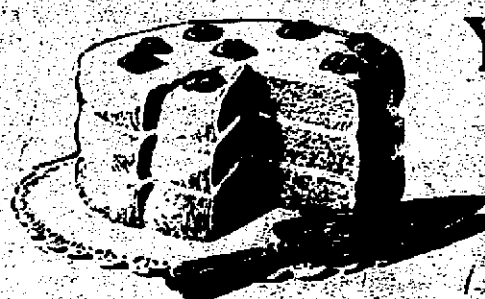

Just phone us what day you can take a Packard Eight for a real cross country run and we will have one gleaming before your door on the minute.

The great reputation Packard has built among those who want the best the world affords is making this spring surpass even the phenomenal demand of 1926.

And at this time when it is difficult to secure early delivery of a Packard anywhere, we are particularly fortunate. For we can make prompt delivery of a Packard Eight in several of the most beautiful and desirable body styles.

CLINTONDALE

Clintondale, May 19.—The five-cent portion supper, which was served in the dining room of the M. E. Church on Friday evening was largely patronized and was very successful socially and financially. Liberal portions of a great variety of tempting and appetizing dishes were served the patrons by a corps of efficient waitresses.

The newly-elected officers of the Epworth League were formally installed during the evening service last Sunday.

All services at the M. E. Church next Sunday are scheduled on the church calendar. The calendar has been presented to the members and friends of the church for their convenience and guidance. There are plenty more for those who may not have received theirs.

Sunday, May 22, is "Family-and-Church Day" in the M. E. Church. All the families of the church and friends who may be visiting there on that day are urged to attend church and sit together in family groups.

Special efforts are being made to make this service both profitable and instructive. This special service does not mean that it is exclusive; it is not. Those of other communions will find a cordial welcome on this occasion as they do on all other occasions. Sometimes during the service a collection will be taken for the Mississippi flood sufferers. Mid-week prayer service on Thursday at 7:30 p. m.; Senior choir at 8:15 on Thursday; Memorial Day service May 23; Communion and reception of members June 2.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, May 19.—The Rev. and Mrs. Jay H. Smith have arrived from Kentucky. The Rev. Mr. Smith has assumed the pastorate of the Stone Ridge M. E. Church. On Sunday he preached two very interesting sermons to attentive audiences. Both the pastor and congregation were delighted to see the choir so well represented at both services.

On Friday night, May 20, the Sunday school board will meet at the parsonage at 7 p. m. and the official board of the church at 7:30.

At the close of next Sunday morning's service a special collection will be taken to defray the pastor's traveling expenses.

The Parent-Teacher Association will hold a food sale in the school building next to Davis's store at 12:30, standard time, on Saturday.

Eight Die When 'Slide' Dam Breaks

Little Wyoming Community Inundated Virtually Without Warning When Dam, Created When Mountain Shifted, Collapsed.

Idaho Falls, Idaho, May 19.—(AP)—Nature has restored the topography of the upper Gros Ventre river valley to a semblance of its original appearance at a cost of at least eight lives, it was revealed today as flood water released by a "slide" dam continued to menace several communities.

"The slide" dam, created when the mountain shifted several feet in June, 1925, to send an avalanche of rocks, dirt and trees across the Gros Ventre river, collapsed yesterday to send a wall of water down the sparsely settled valley. The lake created by the natural dam held approximately 100,000 acre feet of water.

Kelly, Little northwestern Wyoming community where about 75 persons lived, was inundated virtually without warning. As the town is located only four miles below the dam, several persons were drowned before they could reach the nearby hills. Although the death list stood at eight, others were missing.

Continuing its race down the valley, the flood struck Wilson, 25 miles below Kelly, within two hours. Ranchers declared the torrent retained its crest of nearly 20 feet. The river was nearly a mile and a half wide, but no lives were lost at Wilson as residents had been warned to flee.

As the water rushed into the Snake river at its junction with the Gros Ventre near Wilson, warnings were issued to farmers for more than 100 miles along the twisting valley. As the torrent passed into Idaho it maintained a head of nearly ten feet and caused officials of the Oregon Short Line here to send out crews in an effort to save bridges.

Third Straight For K. H. S. Nine

The Kingston High School baseball squad made its third straight Wednesday at Highland by defeating the Raymond Riordan club, 8 to 4. The local team garnered 15 hits, which included a number of extra base blows. The losers were credited with 8 safeties. Joyce was the winning pitcher.

Kingston started early in the game to score, getting two runs in the first and three in the second. In the sixth inning Raymond Riordan made their first score, bringing in two runs. In the ninth they added two more runs.

Good News for Parents

Eight hundred and thirty-five girl students at Simmons college, Boston, tried their hands the other day at rearranging the Ten Commandments according to their opinion of their value as moral guides, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. An incidental result seems to be a vindication of the ruling generation on the charge of disrespect for their elders, frequently laid at their door. For of all the commandments which they might have been expected to place first in importance, the one chosen for that distinction was "Honor thy father and thy mother." Critical observers would have expected that young people who shun the precepts of their parents and wear the hard-earned fringe of those parents' experience on old-fashioned and unmodified to prevent conditions would relegate that particular commandment to last place. Instead, they chose to bring up the rear with "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," which, on the whole, is not surprising.

Ensemble Favored in Sports Attire

Three-Piece Frock for Daytime Wear Suitable for Various Occasions.

In the collections of the latest styles there are presented this season some innovations of especial importance—new ways in treatment which distinguish a costume and add at the same time to its fashion dignity, originality in design and in the handling of fabric, and in composition of color. All of these significant qualities are given anew to modern dress in the present styles, and there is a positive thrill in viewing the beautiful and artistic models that are now being shown. With a fine sense of restraint, observes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, the new styles illustrate a certain added elegance in fashions, and the ultra smart has become a convention in the standards of the day.

With the new order of things in many other interests the styles also are arranged in a new and different order. Adjustments and changes in the routine of social life have made demand for the types of dress that will meet its activities and illustrate a complete reversal of the fashions of even a few years ago. Life in the open, which is more general each season, is a call to which the most intelligent designers are responding. It is always most emphatic in the spring, and this year it seems almost to overshadow every other consideration. This, of course, makes demand for the sports costume, which may be any one of several styles, for this is the outfit developed from the all-day dress worn during the war days of practical or theoretical economy, and every woman who keeps up with the mode realizes the advisability of having several costumes of this sort in her spring wardrobe. This new version of daytime frock, which, to be up-to-the-minute, is called "sports," might be known by any one of several other names—all day, occasional or ensemble—while it is really the last one of these.

The Three-Piece Costume.

In the design which has brought an immediate reaction from exclusive women are three-piece costumes made in all the different fabrics, in many clever combinations and exceptionally fine technique. A three-piece ensemble is presented in one of the light-weight woollens built in a sort of tailleur, yet feminized with tucking, cording, plaiting. A skirt, sweater or blouse and coat all of one material, or of two arranged in striking contrast, is typical of this ensemble, which will serve for any informal occasion in town or country from breakfast until dinner. This is not because it is in strictly good taste for any and all affairs, however informal their chance to be, but because it is accepted. One of the most chic little ensembles of this description was shown at a private exhibition of a prominent New York house. The skin is of scarlet and white checked wool, the blouse of white crepe de chine. The three-quarter coat of white wool is lined with scarlet and the colors in an Aztec hat are arranged in the same relation of scarlet, white and checked material. In this three-piece the new style of plaiting, with the checked bands on the plain, is introduced, inconspicuously, but effectively.

In this version of the three-piece are countless attractive combinations of materials, wool crepe, jersey, satin, tulle and, indeed, of all, almost. The fancy of one shade throughout the ensemble which was worn in the earliest collections, is now modified in some and altogether changed in other models. Sweaters are, of course, much in vogue, and many charming designs are shown, some with unusual harmonies of color. One of these ensembles reports the ground of the skirt and the coat or short jacket.

One costume envelope just brought from Paris is a combination of green and grey, the plaited skirt being of green, the sweater of silk and wool in stripes of green and grey with fine lines of mauve, the coat of grey wool lined with green crepe and a Rebour hat of soft grey felt, with up-turned brim of the green.

Even more popular are the ensembles in several shades of one color, three and sometimes four tones of one shade being used in some of the latest models. It was this conception of artistic possibilities in the ensemble that Jane Regny is employing, and the same scheme in more elaborate dress in which she introduces the colors with large conventionalized floral applique. Nor is Mme. Regny alone in the design of this type of ensemble, but her models are done with truly conspicuous success. Some of the loveliest are in tones of green, mauve, ashes of roses—or rose ash as it is now called—and blue, which has come into first place in shades and tones from navy to periwinkle and the lightest pastel.

Generally Satisfactory.

A costume of three pieces delights the artist who creates it and the woman who wears it because of the opportunity it offers for color treatment. In a three-piece, especially the tiered model, which is distinctly chic and flattering, three and often four tones of one shade are used with charming effect. In some very smart models of this type the bolero, which is seen in ensembles of almost every material, is introduced in a continuity scheme. It has done this effectively with a suit of crepe georgette, in shades of blue, the tiers having rounded corners in the front—a line which is repeated in the lower edge of the jacket. Interest in the bolero for morning, afternoon or evening dress is shown in a variety of models. From Paton there is a little ensemble of navy blue tulle, made with three tiers, each tier running upward toward the front and finished with a frill of black grosgrain ribbon. The bolero jacket, worn over a blouse of blue georgette, is cut with the curved line of the skirt and finished with the same ribbon trimming. Molyneux is among the well-known couturiers who are using the bolero in many designs, and we shall see it through the early summer and on to autumn, in wool crepe, tulle and linen.

In the manipulation and assembling of materials some interesting results are shown in both the French and American designs. In which shantung and tussars are combined with woollens, and an especially subtle composition is achieved with wool crepe and silk crepe that are worn in the exact manner.

Afternoon Frock Is Graceful.

Contrasting with the sports ensemble is another version, also classified as sports, which is in reality an afternoon costume. In this type are shown some of the most delightful fabrics of the season, the wool, light as thistle-down; voiles, crepes, both silk and wool, and the sheerest georgette, marquisette and even chiffon. These are made with a two piece or a one-piece gown in which a girdle arrangement is introduced and a coat, dolman or jacket. The coat, long or knee length, is lined with a color in crepe or of the same fabric, or, as in the models for early summer, the coat is sleeveless or unlined. One of these three-piece costumes in beige georgette has a coat full length, with wide dolman sleeves, is unlined and is trimmed about the edges with beige fur. A lovely creation in mauve and blue wool crepe and silk crepe is softly combined in the dress and a coat cut on straight lines to the hem of the gown. One of the new flower crepes to be worn with this ensemble is made of dark wool and is marked with a cottage bouquet.

Classes of Villainy

Villainy is divided into the amiable and the rude. The good agent usually holds up his victim at the point of a pistol. The strenuous assassin arranges his villainy with a burdensome apparatus, or with a war which causes more deaths in a single battle than real agents ever caused. We all engage in villainy more or less, and it is always a mistake. Honesty would be easier and pay better in every way. We have never been able to get rid of the old-fashioned notion that when the saw dripping the blood he had a right to take it.—H. W. Howe's Monthly.

WHAT THE RECORD SHOWS.

Here are a few figures to think over.

In England a married man with an income of $3,000 per year pays about $200 per year in income taxes. In France he pays more than $300; in Germany more than $400 and in Italy almost $500. In the U. S. A. he pays NOTHING.

When Coolidge came to the White House, a married man began to pay taxes when he had $2,000 a year income. Now he doesn't begin to pay until he has $3,500.

Taxes in the upper income brackets also have been reduced, releasing wealth for reinvestment in industry. The public debt has been reduced six billions. A treasury surplus exists which gives promise of further income tax reduction next year.

These are the practical results of Coolidge economy, which Maurice Bloch, Tammany leader in the State Assembly, recently derided and termed penurious. Now examine New York State finance under Tammany.

Since Governor Smith has been in Albany the cost of state government has risen by 162 per cent and the state debt has increased by $465,000,000 exclusive of $45,000,000 appropriated for a soldiers' bonus. Because of these increasing costs state income tax rebates of 25 per cent have had to be abandoned. Payment of current and prospective commitments, Tammany State Comptroller Morris Tremaine estimates, will create a deficit of $40,000,000 in 1928 on the state treasury.

Higher taxes, to be voted at the coming session of the state legislature, is the only way but.

In choosing between Mr. Coolidge's penurious economy and Mr. Smith's dashing extravagance, we favor the thoughtful voter will favor the former, Assembly Bloch to the contrary notwithstanding.

LAZY COLLEGE LIFE.

The "Revolt of a Middle-Aged Father" in the Atlantic Monthly for May is not another hackneyed complaint against the alleged degeneration of modern youth. It is a practical discussion of the costs of college education in these times, the strain it puts upon the bread-winning parent, and a sober inquiry as to whether the game is worth the candle. The writer of the article, according to "Who's Who in America" a distinguished statistician and economist, Mr. L. M. Robinson, has both medical and Columbia University degrees and so can not be accused of ignorance of the value of college education. His complaint is not merely against the strain on parents—he and his wife are making very great sacrifices in order to put three through college—but against the effect on the youth of both sexes. He says there is too little hard work and too much picnicking at the colleges, which in their atmosphere remind him of "summer hotels" where a good time is the only object. The "excessive leisure" of the colleges, he writes, "makes for the type of junior whose main talent is in speeding a car and sponging on the governor"—the type of "clean-cut, athletic (but lazy) American manhood."

The result of so much "wasted time" in pleasure causes the after strain to get forward in life's work to be hated as well as hard, with too often failure in consequence. He admits the prestige of the college degrees and for this reason would have them abolished except for vocational effort. He thinks it would be better for all concerned if youths and girls went to work and then took only "part time" college courses with a view to attaining the desired general culture—excepting only those seeking vocational education. Obviously a large acceptance of such a solution is not to be expected, for few besides the current workers after vocational training would attend night classes after the day's work; but the article is suggestive as well as interesting and clearly reveals undesirable, even beautiful, conditions.

We are sure more reminded of the southern of the freedom in a great city by the New York correspondent who left into talk with a lady in one of those "southern cooking" restaurants.

fantasies and was informed that, outside of the manager of the rooming house where she lived, she had not spoken to another soul in ten days. "And," she added, "down in my Georgia town I was considered the gabbiest woman there."

The soft-hearted had better keep an eye open for the like of James Briscoe with a fetching hard-luck story. It seems that after his arrest Briscoe admitted that for three years he has picked up about $26,900 annually by posing as a destitute World War veteran with $4,000 extra compensation due him from a heedless and heartless Veterans Bureau.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
YOU CAN SLEEP TOO MUCH.

Every year when Edison's birthday comes around, the newspapers, as also in the case of Chauncey DePew, make great comment on their mental and physical equipment.

Chauncey DePew attributes his condition to his knowledge of just what suits his body from the standpoint of food, rest and exercise.

Edison's ability to get along with four or five hours sleep in the twenty-four, is what amazes the world.

No one has figured out yet, just what sleep is, or where the sleep center is located, but in every civilized country now there are research men trying to find out the exact nature of sleep.

That all young people should get plenty of sleep is admitted. Every young animal sleeps a great part of the time during the growth period. But why one adult seems to need 10 hours and another only 7 hours, both doing the same amount of work, is what is puzzling our research men. Of course there are differences in the soundness or the intensity of sleep with different individuals.

Some folks can go off to a sound dreamless sleep, and when they awake in six or seven hours they are refreshed and ready for the day's work. Others appear to sleep just as soundly, have no dreams, and yet require 9 or 10 hours of sleep in order to feel properly rested.

Those who dream a great deal really need more sleep, because the brain is not resting, it is still using up energy.

However there is one point that seems to be overlooked.

If you have been an average sleeper, seven to eight hours, and find that you are requiring more sleep at night, and feel sleepy during the day, don't deceive yourself by thinking that you really need more sleep.

What is likely the trouble? Infection from some place in your body. It may be teeth, tonsils, sinuses, or gall bladder, but most frequently is from a sluggish liver and intestine.

Don't give in to this sleep habit if your common sense tells you that you haven't been working harder than usual. This extra sleep or rest is not beneficial, but really harmful, as it serves to make your liver and intestine less active.

Kerhonkson, May 13.—Sunday morning Mr. Cooley will have an illustrated talk for the boys and girls at the M. E. Church in which he asks them to help him. The subject of the morning sermon will be "The Church in Thy House." Members may come to the evening service prepared to announce the hymns they would like to help sing. Tuesday evening there will be a service of recreation and devotion in the church basement.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Christiana and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherman attended the funeral services at Rosedale Plains of Mrs. Charles Snyder of Kingston on Saturday afternoon. Melbourne Pluckiger is spending a few days at his home.

Mrs. Chester Freer entertained several ladies on Tuesday afternoon at a card party for the benefit of the Home Bureau.

A chicken supper will be served on Thursday evening, May 13, at the Reformed Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kalkemikan and son, Edwin, attended the Sunday school convention at Kingston on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Edwell and daughter of Pelham, N. Y., were here to see her mother, Mrs. M. Morchouse, who is stopping at the home of Mrs. Addis.

The Mark

People who are not themselves healthy sometimes speak of a lack of appetite for reading as if it were a sign of signs of mind or originality. But, in fact, it is the mark of undeveloped powers, and it carries the quality of ignorance of the most valuable thought, and the most delightful pleasure in the world.—London Daily Telegraph.

THE OBSERVANT FISHERMAN SEES

Up until late Sunday afternoon there was no indication from Union Headquarters, located in the depths of the muddy waters of the Ashokan reservoir, what action may be expected, if any, to further the cause of the striking fish.

Scores of men, women and children, including whole families, thronged the banks at various places along the water, and anxiously threw out lines of communication to learn whether there had been any change in the strike situation since their last visit.

Just what the demands of those cold-blooded aquatic animals may be is not certain to those desiring closer connection with them.

Fishermen recall that poor food has caused serious strikes in labor organizations and have endeavored to bring the best to tempt the appetites of the strikers. A favorite bait which has caused a riot among the bullhead union members, resulting in many turning strikebreakers, is the nightcrawlers.

Indignant lovers of the sport have determined to break up this union at any cost. They gathered the nightcrawlers and under cover of darkness threw their lines out into the murky waters with startling results.

Protected by the darkness weak-minded bullheads are slipping away from the Union Headquarters in large droves and attacking the bait furiously while enthusiastic fishermen give them the hook and throw them into their bags.

The yellow perch have left the union ranks and are furnishing much of the entertainment for the fishers. However, there has been very little weakening in the trout and pickerel organizations, although occasional strikebreakers have been taken home for family tables.

Sunday one little fellow caught a big pickerel and cut its head off for exhibition purposes. That pickerel never had a chance because the little man used cluster hooks numbering four in a bunch. However, he only put one baitfish on the cluster.

Another man saw his dropline shoot out and got so excited he walked right in the water over his hip boots to catch it. The trout measured eighteen inches. Just as he landed the trout his pole line shot through the water and when he reached it the line snapped. Of course, that made a big story for many a future occasion.

A man who was casting selected an expensive spinner. After throwing out a few times he decided he wasn't getting far enough from the shore. He warned his companion to look out and gave his arm a mighty sling. There was a snap like the crack of a whip, the spinner went sailing through the air and struck the water far out. The line had back-lashed and broken.

"Why can't I catch a trout?" asked a man who had been fishing for the first time. His companion told him he needed live bait.

"I'll admit I got these worms in a cemetery but not everything in a cemetery is dead," said the angler.

"Take this off the hook, pa," said a young heavyweight holding a bullhead dangling from his line.

"Pa wouldn't do it so the two hundred-and-twenty-five pounder put his ponderous foot on the half-pound fish and yanked the hook out.

"I always get stuck when I take 'em off the hook," he said to a group of laughing fish-speculators.

He reached down to put the fish in the bag. The bullhead must have had his fishy eye on him. The young big-man was stuck deep and the pain caused him to throw the fish far out into the water.

One family of ten, from two to fifty years of age, arrived with their lunch baskets and fishing tackle, prepared to spend the day fishing, but they forgot their bait.

Heavy showers about 4 o'clock caused many to go home with "fishermen's luck."

ACTIVITIES AT THE COMFORTER CHURCH

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Church of the Comforter will hold its monthly business meeting in the church hall Friday afternoon, May 20, at 2:30. Mrs. Charles Hicks will conduct the devotional service. Mrs. E. J. Ritch will read a paper on Japan. Mrs. F. Floyd will give a report of the missionary conference, following which refreshments will be served and a social time enjoyed. A large attendance is expected.

On Friday evening, May 20, at 8 o'clock a pleasing entertainment will be given in the church hall. The Popular Entertainers will present a humorous three act play entitled "The Poor Married Man." After the play the Ladies' Aid Society will serve ice cream and cake in the dining room.

On Wednesday evening, June 1, the Ladies' Aid Society plan to

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH.

By W. L. Gordon.

Words often misused. Don't say "that city is a long ways from here." Say "a long way from here."

Often mispronounced, preambles. Accent the "pre," not the "am."

Often misspelled: sufficient; two's, tent.

Synonyms: continuous, everlasting, endless, ceaseless, incessant, perpetual, interminable.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Perfunctory; done carelessly or negligently for the sake of getting through; half-hearted. "His work was done in a perfunctory manner."

Bigger Poultry Profits

They depend, first of all, on using the right incubators and brooders—on hatching more eggs and raising more chicks into good layers and the kind of market birds that bring high prices.

That's why most successful poultry raisers, agricultural colleges and county agents will recommend Buckeye Incubators and Brooders if you ask their advice.

Ask us for the new Buckeye Catalog—a most complete and practical book on poultry raising. Tells how to feed, cull, get more eggs in winter and market for higher prices.

Dedrick's Drug Store Says Pleasant to Take, Elixir Must Help Poor Distressed Stomachs or Money Gladly Refunded.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness from poor digestion or dyspepsia that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done.

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and speedily the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief, but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have them at all?

Especially when Dedrick's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere guarantees Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant elixir, to help you or money back.

Demand Dare's—no reputable druggist will offer you a substitute.

SILVER CAKE
(Chocolate Frosting)

1/2 cup shortening 2 egg whites
1 1/2 cups sugar 6 1/2 cups Presto
1/2 cup milk 1/2 tsp. flavoring

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream mixture well. Sift Presto, measure, and add alternately with milk to first mixture stirring well after each addition. Fold in beaten egg whites. Add flavoring and beat moderately one minute. Makes one large loaf. Bake in a rather slow oven (340°—360°F) about one hour.

Only home made cakes are really satisfactory; they are so light, fresh and enticing.

Presto is just enough finer than any other flour to make your baking noticeably better. Its quality is always the same and it comes to you ready mixed with precisely the correct leavening in it. It will make you a better baker at once.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MASQUERADE BALL

You know a masquerade ball is a very special kind of ball, for it everyone dresses up in fancy costume so that no one will know who is who. The fairies thought it would be such fun to have a masquerade ball.

They spoke to the Fairy Queen about it, and she was just an enthusiastic.

"I think it would be splendid," she said. "Let's have it tomorrow evening at eight sharp."

The next night promptly at eight all the fairies gathered together.

And such costumes as there were! There were witches, wiseacres, dunces, dominoes, Japs, kings and queens, jesters, milkmaids, r'inals, clowns, cowboys, princes, dancing girls, dolls, animals.

They were to wear masks till supper time.

But one fairy seemed to be the center of admiration.

She was a little Scotch lassie. She wore a velvet jacket and a plaid skirt.

Her little legs were bare, and on her feet were black velvet slippers with shiny buckles on them.

The fairies talked to one another in queer disguised voices, so no one would be able to recognize them by their voices.

The little Scotch lassie didn't speak at all, but she danced the highland ring, and it completely fascinated all the fairies.

At last supper time came, and they all eagerly watched to see who every one was, and especially the little Scotch lassie.

Whom do you suppose it was? None other than the Fairy Queen.

They all said at once: "Fairy Queen, you have taken the prize."

"But I can't accept my own prize," said she.

"You must," said all the fairies, "for you are perfectly marvelous."

"Well, that's a funny thing to offer a prize and then to keep it," she said.

"But, anyway, I can divide it, as it is a box of sugar plums."

"Goodie!" they all cried.

Blame It On the Tire.

He didn't pump it full enough. Though all the air is free, He left it soft and spongy-like, And scooted on with glee.

He skidded and he griddled And hooped through dust and mire, And when it burst he cursed and cursed.

And blamed it on the tire. He drove it on the street car tracks, With confidence superb, He bumped it on the lamp posts and He scraped it on the curb.

He slammed it and he jammed it. Any way he might desire, And when it popped, right out he hopped.

And blamed it on the tire. He cut it on some broken glass, But said that didn't hurt, He kept right on through sand and mud.

And filled the cut with dirt, It spotted there and rotted there, And soon he howled in fire. When up it blew, he blew up too, And blamed it on the tire.

He put on chains that ground and chewed, And gouged into the tread, He knew his wheels were out of line, "But what of that?" he said.

He whizzed along and sized along, He picked up nails and wire, And when it banged, his flat he whanged.

AND BLAMED IT ON THE TIRE.

Types of Zebras

Zebra is the name in general of all the African striped species of the horse family (equidae) of which four species are usually recognized, viz., the true or mountain zebra (Equus zebra), Burchell's zebra (Equus burchelli), Greys' zebra (Equus greyi) and the quagga (Equus quagga).

The last-named was only partly striped and is extinct. It was an inhabitant of South Africa, and especially of mountainous districts, where it roved in small bands. It was the smallest of the group, standing a trifle over four feet high at the withers, and had relatively long ears, a comparatively short mane and a scantily haired tail. Its ground color was white (brownish on the face) and the stripes were black.

The zebra now most often seen in South Africa and in menageries is Burchell's which Boers call "quagga."

News and Views About Women

Belfast, Me.—The distinction of being the oldest clubwoman in America may well be accorded to Mrs. Sarah Ellen Stewart of this city, now in her 102nd year. Mrs. Stewart is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Camp Fire Girls. The Three-Quarter-Century Club of Maine has presented her with a gold medal.

Houston, Texas.—A blind stenographer for a Houston real estate operator "sees" her dictation with her hands. Miss Winnie Nelson has a metal device, eight inches long, pierced with tiny holes, underneath which she takes her paper. As her employer talks, she has a reputation for taking fast dictation. She punches indentations on the paper through the holes with a stylus, a small awl-like instrument. After the dictation she runs her fingers over the indentations and transcribes the notes on a typewriter.

London.—Because the building in which she lives was once part of a castle, Mrs. Robin d'Erlanger, an intimate friend of Princess Mary, calls her flat in Piccadilly, "The Hayloft." Mrs. d'Erlanger was Miss Myrtle Arguason before her marriage to the son of Baron d'Erlanger, a British banker. She and her husband live behind the mansion of her father-in-law, which was once the residence of the poet Byron.

The Hague.—Although fixed by death when she was six months old, Princess Juliana's own flag was flown for the first time at the birthday party to mark her recent coming of age.

Princess Juliana's standard is a painted banner, divided into four parts by a cross of Nassau blue. In the middle of the cross is an orange medallion bearing the arms of the house of the Netherlands surrounded by the royal crown. The upper quarter bears the emblem of the house of Orange and the lower the bull's head of the house of Cleckenburg.

TASTY DISHES

A dish of hot soup is a good appetizer, prepares the stomach for heavier foods and will when served with cream, make a main dish quite nourishing enough to satisfy.

Salmon Soup.—Drain oil from a can of salmon (take one-third of can). Remove skin and bones. Rub through a sieve, add gradually one quart of milk scalded, two tablespoons of butter and flour cooked together, salt and pepper to taste. Boil and serve.

Grapefruit Cocktail.—Make grapefruit baskets by cutting a small basket from the grapefruit. Scoop out the pulp and reserve for the filling. To the pulp of the grapefruit add an orange, a little diced pineapple, mix well. Add the fruit juice and sugar enough to sweeten, boil, until thick, then cool and when the cups are filled with the fruit pour over the sirup. A small flower or green spray may be added to the handle for decoration.

Sweetbread in Gelatin.—Cut into small dice two cupsful of cooked sweetbread. Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of the broth and dissolve in one-half cupful of hot broth. Add the sweetbread, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste. Set the mixture in a pan of ice water, stirring frequently, and as it begins to stiffen add one cupful of whipped cream and two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley. Turn into molds and chill. Serve in slices on crisp lettuce leaves.

Rabbit en Casserole.—Dress the rabbit and cut into serving-sized pieces. Brown in sweet fat, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and two cupsful of water. Stir until smooth, pour over the rabbit, add a few slices of onion which has been browned in fat, a cupful of celery, a bit of bay leaf, salt, pepper and enough water to half cover. Cover and cook slowly for two hours. If a thicker sauce is desired add more flour. Serve hot with a tart jelly.

SCALLOPS AND PLEATS ARE AMONG THE DECORATIVE EFFECTS PERMITTED IN MOURNING—ALL WHITE IS ABOVE REPROACH FOR HOUSE OR RESORT WEAR.

TROPIC BLUE LACE FOR EVENING.

The Diagonal Decolletage Becomes a Square Outline in Front on an Evening Gown Made Entirely of Tropic Blue Lace. The Casual Grace of the Drape, Which is Cut All in One at the Left Side, is Balanced by a Shorter Drape, Which Extends From the Waist in Front.

New York.—Scallops—how did we ever exist without them? For rounding out edges, what is their equal? One finds the best sort of an excuse for adding another color in binding them, and has a decoration that begins being useful in the surgery and may be continued to be worn for gowns both grave and gay until the end of time.

Scalloped edges are now the approved edges for skirts, sleeves, neck-lines, and blouses. They appear on everything, from the daintiest and simplest lingerie to the most elaborate court trains, which are still believed to add dignity and elegance to the bride. They have, perhaps, a special interest for those who are in mourning. It being always a problem to find trimmings appropriate for this period.

While tradition governs the wearing of mourning to a certain extent, moderns have quite a different interpretation of it than persons in former years, when women swathed themselves in crape. Crape has been laid aside for crepe. The long crepe veil is rarely seen, nor are dresses banded with crape, but are made of dull crepe de Chine or lustrous fabrics that rely on fabric decoration more than trimmings. It is on this account that scallops and pleating become important. It is permissible to wear chiffons and nets for evening; even lace is now countenanced.

For indoor and resort wear, moderns wear all white, even in the deepest mourning. Black and white is second, but all white is in the best of taste in appropriate surroundings. (Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York.)

Girl Babies

This ought to be read by boys who are inordinately proud of their own vigor and who regard all girls as molluscoides. More boys than girls are born per unit of population, the census bureau finds. And why so? Because they have to be. Nature sees to that, and gives us 1,038 boys to 1,000 girls in an effort to keep up a proper balance. For boy babies can't stand the hardships of early life so well as girl babies. So many more boys die in infancy that, at the end of the first year, the girls, who started with a numerical handicap, have a big majority. More than thirteen baby boys die, to ten baby girls. It is quite possible that the girls keep their physical superiority, too, though no boy will believe that, says the Cleveland Times. The mortality rate for all females in this country is very much less than the rate for all males. Which seems to mean that women stand illness better than men, and so live longer. Moreover, though few men will agree with this, women in general have nearly always done more work than men, and probably still do.

The French have decided to incorporate the word "home" in their vocabulary, and it is certainly very gratifying to know some one intends to carry on its use.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Good Style for a School Dress.

5737.—Cotton broad cloth and checked gingham are here combined. This model is also attractive in chambray, jersey or flannel.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 10 year size requires 2 1/2 yards of plain material together with 1/2 yard of contrasting material 36 inches wide, if made as illustrated in the large view.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1927 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies' misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

The New Jersey Supreme court has just set aside a verdict obtained by a housewife against a salesman. In his persistency to have her buy a household device, she said, his conduct and threats brought an attack of apoplexy upon her. Modern salesmanship now employs everything in emotional and stage repertory to put its goods across. But nervous shocks are not good propaganda, unless the agent is the victim, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Perhaps it might be dramatic for him to suffer a stroke as the result of his surprise at hearing his prospective customer finally refuse to make a purchase. A "fall" like that might bring down the house, as they say in the green room.

Black Silk Crepe Used for an Afternoon Dress

Spring Fashion Hints of Interest to Milady

Detail means as much in today's dresses as does line. The right silhouette is not quite enough. There must be plaits and tucks or geometrical seams or rows of stitching or bows placed at strategic points to prove that a dress is entirely up-to-date, says the Woman's Home Companion.

In the clothes scheme of the chic Parisienne, colors may come and colors may go, but black and white is a combination that holds its own, season after season. White is a particularly outstanding note this spring, and white with black is much favored for street costumes. With such a color contrast there is usually an additional difference of weaves and lusters.

Spring is at hand, and still the felt hat flourishes. In its new version the crown is a bit lower and the felt more pliable, affording opportunity for more folds and plaits.

Dress fashions are especially feminine this spring, and there is nothing more feminine than ruffles, which are back again in full force.

Soft materials, handled in a simple way, are flattering to any figure. For the mature woman who needs a little straightening out and covering up, they are especially recommended. A certain amount of fullness, if only in the form of plaits, is demanded by the use of soft materials, and the older woman must have long lines.

Beige and fawn shades lead the list of colors for suits and suiting fabrics. Then comes light gray, followed by a shade of blue called larkspur, a pastel tone inclining a bit toward mauve. There are also Naples, a rich blue between royal and lapis, and rubric, a deep burgundy red.

The repetition of the same set of colors in different parts of a costume and in slightly different mediums is a current feature. When three or four-piece tweed suits introduce knitted fabrics as part of their make-up these knitted goods are made up from the very same yarns as those used in weaving the tweed. The result is that the knitted goods match the tweeds in color and weight, although they differ considerably in texture.

If women would only love us for our faults, we might count on their unwavering fidelity.—Boston Transcript.

I do my own wash

—yet my hands stay soft, white

I used to hate Monday, for my week's wash was always very heavy. But washday is now so easy for me.

I just use Rinso. It's great in our water—makes wonderfully thick, lasting suds.

I soak the whole wash in these suds for about two hours—then rinse. The dirt soaks right out and everything becomes spotless without a bit of hard rubbing. And oh, so much whiter than ever before. Sirdant, too!

And with Rinso my hands never get red and perturbed any more. They stay white and soft.

Why not try Rinso next washday? You'll see why the makers of 26 leading washers endorse it.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, May 20.

The annual entertainment of the Mayor's Committee on Municipal Athletic Activities will be broadcast by WNYC for an unusual feature Friday night. Among the entertainers will be speakers, readers, vocalists and instrumentalists. The Syracuse University Band will give a concert through the microphone of WSYR and the players of WOR will stage "The Stop Mother," a modern play sure to interest radio listeners. Another play, "The Bella," will be a feature of WGL. KOA will radiate a unique program called "A Dramatization of Campfires of Colorado" which will be interpreted with songs, music and stories. The annual banquet of the New Jersey Bankers' Association, with prominent speakers, through the microphone of WPG, and a special program of the works of Goethe, rendered by the studio orchestra of WVO, will be two entertainments pleasing to the eastern dial-twister.

Arctic is from the Greek arctos, a bear, the reference being to the northern constellation of the Great Bear. Antarctic means "opposed to Arctic."

Mother Says Tanlac Is Best Remedy in World

Suffering from Headaches, Stomach Trouble, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis and Nervousness, Buffalo Woman Recovers Lost Health. Thanks Tanlac

The remarkable experience of Mrs. Harriet Grimes, 1078 Grant Street, Buffalo, N. Y., is the experience of thousands of others who after years of intense suffering have found grateful relief and new strength in this wonderful tonic and remedy.

Pain took its high toll and Mrs. Grimes found herself on the verge of becoming an invalid—her body wracked with pain, unable to eat without suffering from indigestion and gastritis, bothered by dizziness and spells that made it dangerous for her to go out on the street, too weak to do her housework. Neuritis in right shoulder and limbs pained steadily for 6 months.

Mrs. Grimes says: "Long days of anguish and tormenting pain that I tried to hide with a smile, followed sleepless nights. The sight of food nauseated me. I ate very little and became so weak and run-down that I couldn't do my housework."

"I tried everything for relief. Waited, worried. Then my daughter suggested Tanlac. What a wonderful daughter she is! For Tanlac saved me."

"Pain vanished. I began to sleep well and get up in the morning refreshed. I took on weight and felt stronger. Blue spots caused by high blood-pressure disappeared from my face. Again I feel young. Tanlac is the best remedy in the world."

Benefit by Mrs. Grimes' experience. Let this marvelous tonic made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula, rebuild your run-down body, drive out pain and poison, give you robust health.

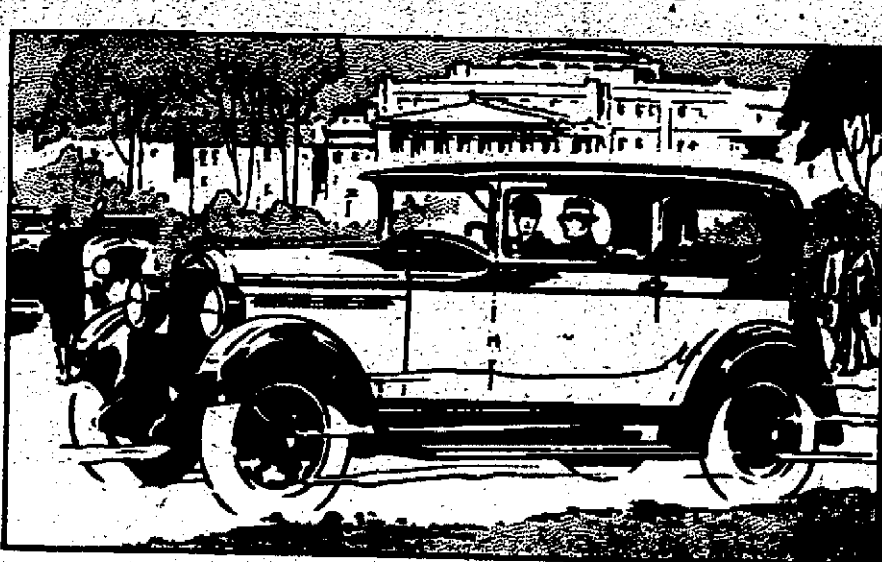

Results after taking the first bottle will amaze you. Ask your druggist for Tanlac—today! More than 40 million bottles sold.

General Synod of Reformed Church

Many Mothers to Come Before Governing Body at Asbury Park First Week in June—Tricentennial Celebrations Next Year

The One Hundred and Twenty-first regular session of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America will convene at Asbury Park, N. J., on June 2 at 2:30 p. m., standard time.

The Synod will be called to order by the retiring president, the Rev. S. C. Nettings, D. D., of Holland, Mich., who will also preach the Synodical sermon on Thursday evening. Synod will probably be in session for about a week. The schedule will probably be as follows: Thursday, the election of officers, appointing of committees and the referring of communications with the president's sermon in the evening; Friday, the hearing of outside delegates and the transaction of any business that is ready; Friday evening, a public meeting for education and young people's work; Saturday morning, business; Sunday the president of Synod will preach in the morning and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper administered. In the evening there will be a speaker on behalf of the Pension Fund. Monday and Tuesday will be given to the various boards for the reports and consideration of their work; the Foreign Mission Board coming on Monday afternoon with a public meeting in the evening; and the Domestic Board on Tuesday afternoon with a public meeting in the evening. Synod usually adjourns on Wednesday noon but may adjourn after Tuesday evening's meeting, but must continue until all business is finished.

Tricentennial Celebration. The important work of this Synod will be first of all the preparation for the Tricentennial Celebration which comes next year, 1928. On April 7, 1628, Jonas Michaelius arrived in New Amsterdam from the Netherlands and from that day to this there has always been a continuous work and an unbroken line of ministry in New York city and hence in the denomination, thus making it the oldest church with such a record in the United States. The Synod of 1928 will meet in New York city and will be an elaborate Tricentennial Celebration. Not only that but plans are being made whereby there will be a celebration in every Particular Synod and in every Classis and finally in every individual church of the denomination. One of the features of this celebration will be the completion of the Tricentennial Fund for the Pension of Disabled Ministers. This fund is to be at least one million dollars. Over $500,000 has already been paid in cash and nearly $400,000 of the remainder pledged. The plan is to have the full amount in cash paid in by the time of the Synod in 1928, and Synod will take steps looking to this end.

Closer Relation of Churches. There are several interesting overtures to be considered by this Synod. One from the Classis of Palisades, N. J., asks that the committee on closer relation with other denominations be instructed to open negotiations with churches of the Presbyterian system of the Reformed family looking towards a closer relation of the churches. The classis of West Sioux, Iowa, advanced to the grade of a Junior College giving the work of the freshman and sophomore classes. There is a call for a synodical evangelist by the Classis of Grand Rapids, Michigan, for work in the western churches, and the Classis of Kalamazoo, Michigan, wants the Tricentennial movement to have definite authority to include a revival in the church, a greater emphasis on educational evangelism, and the promotion of parish evangelism. As in former years, it is again suggested that the Particular Synods be held in the autumn instead of the spring, but with this new suggestion that all ministers and an elder from each church be members of the Synod. The Classis of Monmouth, N. J., wants General Synod to meet every two years instead of annually.

Revision of Liturgy. A committee was appointed last year to revise the liturgy and standards of the church. This committee has met and will present a report to this Synod. The Classis of Rochester asks that nothing be done in this matter.

There will probably be about two hundred delegates and as many visitors and friends. Delegates represent all the Classis in the United States and Canada, representatives of the theological seminaries and representatives from the mission fields of the world. The headquarters will be at the Metropolitan Hotel as in former years and the meetings will be held in the Asbury Park Reformed Church with extra sessions as on Ladies' Day, Tuesday of Synod week, in the Presbyterian Church.

Inventor's Birthplace. Hargreaves, the inventor of the spinning jenny, was born in Blackburn, one of the oldest cotton manufacturing towns of Lancashire, England. It is nine miles east of Preston. The town also has large iron manufacturing.

Port Ewen. Port Ewen, May 19.—An unusual treat awaits those who attend the entertainment given in connection with the cafeteria supper in the Methodist Church house on Friday night. Some who have seen it say that several numbers would do credit to professionals. Mrs. Norman Coutant of Esopus was the guest of Miss Loretta Van Aken on Tuesday.

A large number from this place attended the meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Classis of Ulster held at the Reformed Church at New Paltz today.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the members of the consistory, the officers of the Ladies' Aid Society and the officers of all other societies of the Reformed Church will meet in the Sunday school room.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will hold a food sale in the Lampham Building Friday afternoon, May 20. The sale will open at 2:30 o'clock.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT WATKINS GLEN STATE PARK. Watkins Glen, N. Y., May 19 (AP).—An ornamental stone building, to be used as a headquarters for park officials and as a shelter, rest room and restaurant for visitors, is nearing completion at Watkins Glen state park.

The structure, an L-shaped pavilion 110 feet in length, overlooks the gorge from a cliff above the southern bank and is a part of plans for developing the lower entrance.

Appropriation for the building, which with land and approaches will cost approximately $166,000, was made by the legislature in 1923, but delays were encountered before construction was begun. When completed the building will be of rustic stone, approached by wide drives giving plenty of parking space. Wide stone gates give access to the pavilion and park from an improved road leading past the main entrance from this village.

In addition to a garden below the pavilion there are picnic grounds, a bridge and paths winding through the gorge. The upper entrance to the park, near the railroad station, also is being enlarged to provide added parking space there.

Camera From Cigar Box. Joseph Niepe, one of the inventors of modern photography, the associate of Daguerre, is said to have constructed his first camera from an old cigar box and the lens from his grandfather's solar microscope.

Everybody

Cent-a-Word Ads. Bring Quick Results. Try Them. Knows that the Freeman

Studebaker Commander

set ten world records by traveling 5000 miles in less than 5000 minutes-

BUT- What does it mean to You?

OF COURSE, you don't want to go 5000 continuous miles at better than a mile-a-minute. But this sensational performance proved by the most brutal test ever recorded, that anything an ordinary driver wants in speed and endurance, is child's play to THE COMMANDER.

Never before has any stock enclosed car in the world achieved such a maximum of miles in such a minimum of minutes.

33 Million Engine Explosions

To the ear, only a sound like the wind whisking through a grove; to the eye, only a fast moving bulk with contour dulled by its terrific speed... But within the six cylinders of The Commander's mighty engine—a fusillade of red hot explosions—over thirty-three million of them during the run! Connecting rods plunged upward and downward about eleven million times, wheels revolved over three million times.

Despite this ordeal, mechanical repairs were limited to three grease cups (damaged by hasty greasing) and a spark plug!—negligible when you consider that this astounding performance is equivalent to 25,000 miles of ordinary going.

Let Harry Hartz—America's Champion Driver—tell you out of his own experience what a stock COMMANDER will do.

Harry Hartz Says: "It will maintain any given speed up to sixty-five miles per hour, longer, more smoothly, and at less expense per hour traveled, for gasoline, oil and repairs, than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

Figures Which Show the Strain of 5000 Miles in 4909 Minutes

Total of 33,000,000 explosions in the engine!

More than 1,100 explosions per minute in each cylinder equivalent to more than 18 per second. About 7,000 explosions per minute in the six cylinders.

11,000,000 strokes of each piston 9,200,000 feet, or about 1750 miles, traveled by each piston — 3,300,000 revolutions for each wheel!

This is what an engine must do to travel 5000 miles—but more than a thousand Studebaker cars have been driven 100,000 to 500,000 miles—and many of them are still in service!

Get Behind the Wheel

But drive THE COMMANDER yourself and draw your own conclusions—get behind the wheel that'll put you ahead of everything on the road—step on the throttle and feel the thrill of outstepping competition—or test it in traffic for flexibility of handling—any old rate of travel suits THE COMMANDER—it is both gentle at town speeds for a woman and a giant at top speeds for a man!

More Records!

Take the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower, and the Studebaker Big Six outsells them!

Take all the Eights in the world, as well as all the Sixes, selling for less than $2500, and the Studebaker Big Six Commander out-performs and out-lives them!

And take all-day long for a real demonstration.

See It and Drive It TODAY!

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Swift descent of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals from second to fifth place in the National League drew attention today to a red hot struggle for second place between no less than four teams.

While the Giants, like their fellow townsmen, the Yanks in the American League, had a good hold on first place, the next four teams in the National circuit were bunched so closely a cap would cover them.

The four are the Cubs, Philadelphia Pirates and Cards, named in the order of their present rank behind the Giants. Between the first and last of this quartet 21 points intervene.

Single defeat is enough to send one of the four down several steps and that is what happened to the Cards when they lost their last engagement yesterday by an 8 to 1 count to the Braves while Pittsburgh was trouncing the league leading Giants, 13 to 6. Chicago was beating Brooklyn 7 to 4 and the Phils were idle.

Wee Willie Sherdel was the victim in this surprising upset and the fans had the rare experience of seeing the little slow ball king batted clear out of the box in the seventh. Larry Benton for Boston was working well enough to hold the champions to eight hits and he added a double of his own in the sixth that tallied the runs and helped start his rival hurler on the path to the club house.

The Giants' defeat by Pittsburgh was nearly as crushing, though it did not seriously threaten the New Yorkers' lead. In this first appearance at the Polo Grounds, the Corsairs crashed out 18 hits off three pitchers while Vic Aldridge held the Giant bats to half that number. Joe Harris, Pittsburgh first sacker, had a perfect day at bat with four bingles and a pass in five attempts. The home run sluggers were Wright and Traynor of the victors and Doc Farrell, the youthful Giant.

Charley Root's pitching, plus loose Brooklyn fielding, gave the Cubs the victory that carried them from fourth to second place. That was Root's sixth of the season.

A shakeup in the American League also took place when the Tigers made their hits count to defeat Washington, 5 to 3, and the Browns outslugged the Red Sox for an 8 to 6 decision. The Senators thus sank from fourth to a tie with Cleveland for next to last, while Detroit and St. Louis were deadlocked in fourth position.

Disputes with the umpires featured the Detroit game and one man of each team was banished for talking back. Whitehall fanned ten Senators. The high spot of St. Louis was the batting of "Bing" Miller, of the Browns who made four hits, one homer, in five times up, and boosted his average to .446 for the season. Eddie Collins, now with the Athletics, was handed a wrist watch, diamond stickpin and a base on balls by old teammates at Chicago before rain ended the game in the second inning.

The Treasury department estimates that there are 8,000 misers in America who keep their hoardings merely to float over them. The estimate is that $400,000,000 in cash is hidden away in mattresses, holes in the wall, in socks, in various clever or foolish places, instead of being deposited in safe banks. Money hidden away and not used is essentially dead. Much of it is destroyed in fires, by rats, by the death and forgetfulness of the holders. It's an utterly foolish thing to do—to slave away to earn money, putting one's life blood into it, and then lay it away to mold or to be stolen or lost. The only money worth having is the money at work.

There is a movement in New York to revive Shakespeare to clean up the drama, and in 1690 the English stopped all theatrical productions, Shakespeare included, because of their demoralizing influence, showing the effect, if any, of the war, big trousers and short skirts.

There are still people who think that Bacon wrote some of Shakespeare's plays. From the records rendered available it would appear that Shakespeare did not care much about the matter and neither did Bacon.

Britain realizes that it is no longer defended by its streak of silver sea and takes to the air for defense. As airplanes soar as easily over water as over land, the tight little island is no safer through being an island.

All-Stars Ready For Saugerties

After breaking even in the games last week with the Stanleys, the Kingston All-Stars will play Saugerties this coming Saturday on the Athletic Field at 3:15. The game will start earlier this week due to the many requests from fans.

The Saugerties Club comes here with a very strong lineup. This is the same club that All-Stars battled a 2-1 game with last year in Saugerties, the locals coming out on the long end of the score. The lineup of the Saugerties Club will be announced later, including their pitching selection. The All-Stars will have the same lineup as last week. It is likely either Dick Williams or Hank Cogan will start Saturday's game.

On Sunday the All-Stars will travel to Millbrook to play the club representing that town. Wicker or Kelly is to twirl for Millbrook with Van Buren or Baker working for the Kingston Club.

Millbrook put it over the locals last year. However the All Stars will try to get the jump on them this year.

School 7 Wins Over School 6

In the grammar school baseball league game Wednesday the School 7 nine took another game. They secured a 12 to 3 verdict over No. 6. In the first inning the victors sent ten runs across by virtue of six hits, four walks and an error. De Crette, who is just about the best pitcher in the league, allowed only three hits. Statistics show that in the four games that De Crette has pitched, all victories, he has yielded a total of seven hits, which is a splendid record. Ten games remain to complete the grammar school league schedule.

CLERMONT'S SCORE OVER TRIANGLES BY 13-4 TALLY.

Tuesday evening at Hasbrouck Park the Clermont A. C. handed the Triangles a 13-4 trimming. The Clermonts were held in check by Huddler, the Triangle hurler, until the fourth stanza when they caught him for enough hits to corral twelve of their total number of runs. Vic Spalt, hard-hitting first sacker for the Clermonts, made one of the feature plays of the game when in the fourth he landed a circuit clout, with the bases loaded. He also leaned on the pill for a double and single out of four times at bat. Mathia, who pitched for the Clermonts, allowed but six hits and retired twelve batters. On Thursday evening the Clermonts will stack up against the

Bull Fights Less Cruel

To stem the tide of cruelty in bull fights, managers of contests are protecting the horses. In Lima, Peru, the traditional skin-and-bones equines have been replaced by splendid specimens of horse flesh. They are not blindfolded, and are said to show skill in avoiding the horns of the bull while their masters ward the red cloaks in front of the charging bovine. In Madrid tests are being made to find a suitable armor for the horses. Other cities of Spain are introducing more humane methods.

Eastern Colleges In Athletic Meet

Twenty Colleges Represented by Over 200 Athletes Gather at Schenectady for Two Days' Track and Field Meet.

Schenectady, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—More than 200 athletes representing twenty eastern colleges compete on the Union College field tomorrow and Saturday in the fifteenth annual track and field championships of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Association. Preliminaries will be contested on Friday, with the finals scheduled for Saturday.

Swarthmore, holder of the title for the past two years, is regarded as a possible repeater, although New York University, Haverford and Lehigh will give the champions a battle.

Union is conceded an outside chance to win because of the strength of its track squad. However, the local college is weak in the field events.

A number of the present record holders in the association will defend their laurels this year. Baker, star of the Swarthmore delegation, is one of the outstanding discus throwers in the country. He was winner in his event at the Penn relays last year and is looked on as a sure performer in his specialty at the Olympic games next year. He is also a shot putter of considerable note.

Dutton, another Swarthmore star, will attempt to help his college retain its championship status. Dutton was winner of the 200-yard run and running broad jumps last year.

New York University, coached by Elmer Von Kelling, is one of the leading contenders. The Violet team possesses several crack track and field men who have shown outstanding form in recent meets.

Haverford college, runner up for two years at the Middle Atlantic, is coached by Alfred Haddleton. Swan, javelin thrower, has made the best throw of any competing man in his event this season, having hurled the javelin 175 feet in a dual meet.

Other stars on the Haverford squad, include McCoughy, hurdler; Ensworth, sprinter, and Morris, weight man.

Several of the existing records of the association are expected to fall. The two mile run, the one mile, the discus, broad jump, and high hurdles are all events in which new marks are likely to be established.

Silica in Commerce

The geological survey says that silica occurs in nature as a mineral of economic importance in quartz, sand, etc. Good grades of silica are used for glass making. It may also be used in paint, as a wood filler, a wood polisher, in the manufacture of china and porcelain, as an abrasive, a scouring and cleansing agent, and as a heat and sound insulator.

Julia Claussen, Metropolitan Opera Star, who protects her voice, writes:

"When I decided to smoke cigarettes, I looked about to see which brand was in favor with most men. The answer was easy to find. I noticed that practically all the men at the opera were smoking Lucky Strikes. I learned from them that this cigarette, delightful in flavor, left their voices in splendid shape for their singing. So I tried Lucky Strikes and knew that the men were correct in their judgment. I am enthusiastic about their flavor and the fact that they do not affect my voice."

Julia Claussen

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Sharkey-Maloney Bout Postponed

Richard Assurances at 11 o'clock that the bout scheduled tonight at Yankee Stadium has been postponed until Friday.

New York, May 18 (AP)—The 15-round heavyweight bout scheduled tonight at the Yankee Stadium between Jimmy Maloney and Jack Sharkey, has been postponed until tomorrow night. Promoter Tex Rickard announced today.

Reason that started this morning was still falling when the announcement of the postponement was made at 11 o'clock.

Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, will be one of 80,000 spectators Friday as Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Maloney, two of the foremost contenders for his crown, fight it out over the 15-round route in the Yankee Stadium.

The battle holds especial interest for the ex-marine, for its winner is to meet Jack Dempsey in August for a title bout with the champion in September.

Man in the street and expert alike were hard put today to pick the winner. The consensus was that seldom in the history of the ring have two such formidable heavyweights so closely matched swamped punches with each other. Certain it is that few have ever battled with more at stake.

Besides the prospect of $150,000 as his share of the gate, each of the Boston maulers has a fine chance for a solid gold bout with Dempsey, followed, if successful, by a match with Tunney for a fortune as the reward.

As they finished their training on the eve of the fight, Maloney and Sharkey both were confident, each in his own characteristic way. Maloney was quiet and purposeful; Sharkey loud and sure. The Irishman whined away the last few hours by taking in a show; the Lithuanian by shooting pool with his manager. Maloney was down to 203 pounds of solid, oaken strength. Sharkey weighed 190 pounds of powerful bone and muscle.

In this battle Friday which has for an added incentive the supremacy of Boston, which the two boys from that common home town highly prize, Maloney will make his bid with the right that has given him the name of "Dynamite Jim" while Sharkey will pin his hopes on a lightning left hook. Maloney is given the edge in hitting power; Sharkey in speed.

Each with his manifold supporters in Boston, the bean city boys already have drawn a gate of nearly $100,000 from there alone, which is considered more than any fight in Boston itself ever drew.

WHAT HAPPENED IN THE ROPED ARENA LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press.)

West New York, N. J.—George Mack, Jersey City, scored a technical knockout over Cuney Lee, Mobile, Ala., eight rounds.

Kansas City—Warne Smith, Bartlesville, Okla., defeated Dave Ostrov, Duluth, one round. Wilson Wagner, Kansas City, and Floyd Bowers, Des Moines, drew 10 rounds.

Mary K. Browne Thinks Teachers Made Suzanne

Mary K. Browne, discussing the success of France in tennis in the last few years, says it is due chiefly to able instructors.

Suzanne Lenglen, greatest of women players, was taught by her father, a tennis pro.

On this side we lack professional tennis tutors. There are few in the United States.

William Tilden, Tilden, greatest of all-American players, never had a lesson; he was forced to teach himself.

Most of our other tennis leaders were self-made except a few of those who came up in recent years and who were taught by Tilden. Of these Vincent Richards is the leader.

Now that Richards, Kinsey and others have turned professional, they will probably accept positions as tutors.

Every golf club has a professional; the tennis clubs could probably afford to have them, too.

Considering the thousands that are taking up tennis, a professional would not have a hard time of it as far as the financial end is concerned.

Betting Commissioners Favor A's and Giants

Prices quoted by New York betting commissioners against the chances of 16 major league teams make the Giants and Athletics favorites to win their respective 1927 pennant races. Odds were offered at 2 to 1 against each club.

The chances of the Yankees in the American League, which in 1926 were fixed at 3 to 1, while the St. Louis Cardinals, world's champions, were fixed 5 to 1. Ahead of the Brooklyn club came the Pittsburgh Pirates at 6 to 1.

Odds against other clubs were quoted as follows:

American League—Washington, 3½ to 1; Detroit, 5½; Cleveland, 6½; Chicago, 20½; St. Louis, 30½; Boston, 30½.

National League—Chicago, 3½; St. Louis, 20½; Boston, 20½; Philadelphia, 30½.

Industrial Game Tonight at 6:20

The Schilling furniture-nine and the New Shore Railroaders are scheduled to meet this evening at 6:20 in an Industrial League game at the Athletic Field. This will be the first appearance of the teams who were booked to open the league last week but rain cancelled their engagement. They will perform in the place of the Post Office City aggregation and the A. T. & T. club, because of the latter's withdrawal from the league because of the transfer of some of the players to other cities. Pete Jordan will do the calling this evening.

LOCAL BOXERS WILL PERFORM AT NEWBURGH

Charlie Fisher and Roy Van Buren will appear in the ring at the Newburgh armory on Friday night against opponents who are recognized as scrappers of ability. The local boys are counting on a win and generally realize their ambitions whenever they travel to the Billy City. Fisher will don the mitts against Jack ("Red") Moshier in the main six-round bout on the program while Roy Van Buren will stack up against Ray Donohue of the 120th Medical Detachment, for four rounds.

Featherweight Mix-Up

Above is pictured Honerboy Finnegan, claimant of the featherweight championship vacated by Johnny Dundee and later by Lou Kid Kaplan. Without a king the division has gone to seed, and it seems likely that Finnegan will be signed to meet his fellow-beanester, "Red" Chapman, in a bout which will be recognized as a championship fight. Both boys are anxious for the scrap which may be arranged for display at Madison Square garden in a short time.

BASEBALL SQUADS

Shortstop Jos. Barker is again with the Augusta team of the Sally league.

The New York Yankees have released Elias Funk, recruit outfielder, to St. Paul under option.

Two years ago, in 1917, the Chicago Sox won the world's championship by defeating the New York Giants.

Denver has purchased Arthur E. Serdier, right-handed pitcher, from the Toledo club of the American association.

Tommy Lovelace, outfielder, has been returned to the Corsicans team of the Lone Star league, by the Oakland club.

Souvenir hunters cost the New York Yankees over 5,000 balls last season, most of them bearing Babe Ruth's signature.

Miller Huggins, who believes in the fitness of things, was never quite satisfied until he got a Shocker for his battery.

The longest major-league baseball game was the battle between Joe Oeschger, Boston Nationals, and Tom Cadore of Brooklyn.

Nashville of the Southern league has released Ed Cotter, former Villa Nova college player, to the Albany club of the Southeastern league.

Bill Mullen, infielder, who is with the St. Louis Browns this season, has played on three pennant-winning major league teams—Mobile, Fort Worth and Toronto.

A clause in major league contracts forbidding players to water on ball games and horse races has resulted from the latest edition of baseball scandals.

Before being with the Chicago White Sox, Harry McCarty was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, Syracuse Stars and Houston (Texas) league team.

Baseball has been dropped this season by the University of Georgia in Washington, in order to give the game a chance to grow in the university's new stadium.

Joe Selby, ex-Baltimore shortstop, who is now the property of the Philadelphia Athletics, has decided to enter the battery business in Baltimore on an off-season vacation.

The Chicago White Sox have turned their season game into a doubleheader with the Little Rock club of the Southern league. Little was purchased by the Sox from the Pacific club of the East Texas league, last fall.

DUST EFFECT ON CARS EXPLAINED

Study Made of Journal Bearings With a Fine Abrasive in Lubricant

The United States bureau of standards, has just completed a series of laboratory experiments to determine the effect of road dust on the lubricants of automobiles.

The investigation involved a study of the performance characteristics of journal bearings when a fine abrasive was in the lubricant, a condition similar to that resulting from the presence of road dust and other solid matter in the crankcase oil of automobile engines.

Under severe operating conditions, road dust in the lubricant of an automobile will considerably increase friction losses, while at light loads, it was shown, but little difference will be noted.

"This fact makes especially important the precise determination of the effect of dust on the durability of the affected parts of the engine from a standpoint of service and economy," the report states.

The journal bearing friction machine, used in the tests provided a method of measuring the fractional loss in a journal bearing when operating under different conditions of load on the bearing, speed of shaft and viscosity of the oil, and by correlating these facts in a suitable manner a comparison of the performances of different lubricants with a given bearing was obtained.

Friction Loss Same.—This comparison of the performance of straight mineral oils and that of the same oils, plus a small percentage of a very fine abrasive, showed that under very light conditions of service the friction loss of the bearing is about the same when using either the straight mineral oil or the oil plus abrasive.

At more severe operating conditions, however, the friction loss when using oil plus abrasive was shown to be greater than when operating under identical conditions with the straight oil. This difference increases as the severity of operating conditions is increased, it was explained.

"These results indicate that there is at least a promising field for further research with reference to the factors affecting the wear of journal bearings," the report points out.

Cheapest Plan to Have Your Old Car Made New

Apparently the average motorist is too busy poring over catalogues and buying cars to give thought to what it costs to have his old car made as good as new.

As car owners become more economical and settle down to the idea of buying a good car and keeping it in good condition it is anticipated that a new light will dawn.

Frequently cars are traded in because owners feel that their property has become obsolete, but this usually is proof of lack of foresight in buying. In most instances, cars are turned in because there is a knock in the motor, the clutch is troublesome or the universal rattles.

The owner takes a loss of many hundreds of dollars in depreciation when he might have an entirely satisfactory car simply by installing a new part.

The manufacturer's list price for a clutch of popular make is $91.82. This includes a flywheel and universal joint shell. One hundred and twenty-five dollars buys a complete transmission for a certain six-cylinder car.

A whole engine, six-cylinder type, complete with carburetor, clutch, flywheel, pumps, starter, generator, distributor and all that goes with it can be had for $450.

And these are manufacturer's list prices which generally are regarded as being absurdly high.

MAKE MONEY FROM DISCARDED AUTOMOBILES

The photograph shows the mechanics of a Los Angeles salvage company at work dismantling an old car which has been consigned by its owner to the dumps. The car is shown after the chassis is cut away. The parts are placed in the yard for resale.

Business Development
The business begins to bloom in one and a half to two years after being established. The plant grows from ten to forty feet in height. The Department of Agriculture says that on a general scale only one bush grows on each tree at one time.

Shed and Hall
Shed is a grizzling or driving, partly by frozen rain, or rain that freezes on the ground and ground. Hall falls usually in connection with thunderstorms. It is frozen rain, falling in pellets or in flakes of varying sizes and shapes.

Bo Specifics in Getting Repairs for Your Auto

When discussing the mechanical features of the car with a repairer, or when ordering spare parts, it is highly important to be specific. There are many parts of the automobile bearing similar or identical names.

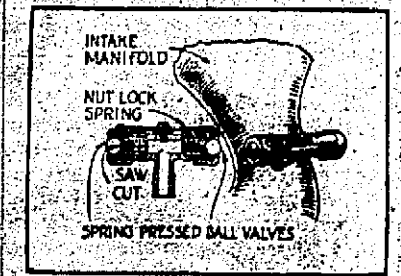

A car owner might speak of having burned out or damaged the "resistance." But that does not help the repairer nor the parts department. There is a resistance unit in the primary circuit of the ignition system, and another resistance unit for dimming the headlights.

The word "bearings" is too loosely used. Car owners should say "wheel bearing," "connecting-rod bearing," depending upon circumstances. It saves mistakes.

The small lever on the steering post with which one can feed gas to the engine is not the "throttle." It is one of two "throttle" controls. The accelerator is the other. That big member supporting the engine of the car is not the rear axle. It is the "axle housing." In each axle housing there are two "live axles."

A flat spring screwed to this will keep the nuts from turning. Popular Science Monthly.

Rough Roadways Are Big Help to Wear of a Tire

Why do car owners worry so over the matter of tire treads? Of course, it does not help matters to slide wheels and thus virtually sandpaper off the treads. It does not pay to go around corners on two wheels. It does not pay to run with wheels out of line. But the real wear is not on the outside. It's in the cords, especially in the walls.

When a tire strikes 1,000 bumps and dips in a mile of driving, internal friction is at a high point. It causes the average tire to disintegrate rapidly, and weakens the best of them. By picking out a smoother road and saving 500 rough spots, a tire will flex 5,000,000 instead of 10,000,000 times in the course of 10,000 miles. Other things being equal, it is the same as doubling its life.

stage to conduct the third group of songs; he, too, was given an ovation. Without notes, Mr. Dodge led his singers in Franz Schubert's impressive "The Omnipotence," calling out the right balance of emphasis in his interpretation of the narrative part, with all of the richness and power of music held to express "Great is Jehovah the Lord." The incidental solo was sung by Miss Eratinn, and the applause following this number was continuous.

In response, Miss Eratinn, who is a Virginia girl, sang "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia," accompanied by the humming of three hundred men's voices. It brought unashamed tears to the eyes, and a following silence that was an ever higher tribute than the later applause. And it set all heart atune to "Deep River," the old negro melody arranged by H. T. Burleigh, that Mr. Dodge knows just how to get his men to sing with exquisite feeling and in an exquisite quality of voice. It was unaccompanied, and it was musically beautiful. Another fascinating number was "Duna," by Josephine McGill. It flowed as sweetly as "The Little Streams of Duna," always in perfect tune.

The close harmony of "The Bells of St. Mary's," by A. Emmet Adams, with its swinging rhythm, marked by the bells played by S. D. Scudder, Jr., accompanist of the Mendelssohn Club, and its pretty sentiment is a song that appeals to both singers and audience, and Mr. Dodge seems to make of it a rarely enjoyable song. It was applauded again and again, and even when the last verse was repeated, the audience seemed to find it very difficult to let the song die away and the singers depart, which they did still singing in groups as they left for the smoker at Golden Rule Inn.

This concert was sponsored by the Associated Glee Clubs of America, and on every hand was heard expressions of delight and also of hope that it will hereafter be at least an annual musical joy to which the people of Kingston may look forward.

Hold Church Services in Old Waiting Room
Porters and clerks at Denmark Hill railway station, South London, often work to the accompaniment of hymns sung lustily by a congregation in a disused waiting room next to the booking office, says the Washington Star.

The Mystical Church of the Comforter in one of London's most curious churches. Bibles are kept in a room that was once only used by inspectors, sometimes waiting for their trains; funeral services are read in it; and a marriage has been celebrated. This church has been in existence for about six years.

One end of the former waiting room has been transformed by an altar painted white and surrounded by the stained-glass of the rainbow. Seven steps lead to the altar, and at the side are two pillars representing beauty and strength. Everything is done by candle light in this remarkable church, and the bridge worn by members is a dove standing in a circle with a human-headed branch in the back.

The pastor and founder of the church was a woman named Mrs. Elizabeth Mary, nee, who with the official title of "minister."

Hello, Jack!

How is Betty? Say, you're a regular girl alright—wearing rubbers in this drizzle and the sun will be shining any minute now.

Oh, you're awful, Jack. I purchased these rubbers at D. Kantrowitz's and at least I'll never get my feet wet and catch a cold. The weather has been so changeable this Spring that one can't tell when it's going to rain or shine.

Don't I know that—say I bought a suit up to DAVE'S and the first day I wore it, it poured cats and dogs but boy, oh boy, that suit after I had gotten it cleaned up a bit from the mud and dirt caused by the rain, looked the same as I bought it.

Wow! look at it! Let's get in my car—hurry up!

Oh, Jack, we just made it didn't we. Look! Look at the rainbow—over there. Why, Jack—your starting the car. Where are you going?

Well, Betty, you know the old legend, at the end of the rainbow is a pot of gold and so we're going to get it to furnish our little wedding home and to get you a wonderful little Bridal gown—And to get yourself a wonderful little Wedding Suit at Dave's. Betty smiled.

ON JOB EVERY DAY 48 YEARS

Train Dispatcher Spends Spare Time as "Silent Evangelist."

Arkansas City, Kan.—Fred T. Horton, in retiring from his job as train dispatcher on the Santa Fe railroad in Arkansas City, is closing nearly half a century's career at railroading with an outstanding record.

He has never missed a day at work. He has never been late a day, except once, when his home was on fire. He has never been responsible for any serious trouble on the line while he was on duty.

He has refused all offers of promotion to official position.

His refusal of offers of promotion by no means indicated a lack of interest in his work, however.

"Even when a little boy playing 'choo-choo' I said I was going to be a train dispatcher. I love the work and there never has been a day when I did not go to work in the morning with the eagerness of one who loves what he does," is Mr. Horton's unusual testimony after 48 years at railroading—33 years as train dispatcher at Arkansas City, seven years as dispatcher in St. Joseph, Mo., and three years as telegraph operator in Galesburg, Ill., his home town.

Wanted Time as "Evangelist." Mr. Horton simply wanted all his spare time to carry on his work as the "silent evangelist of Arkansas City" and this requires more time and work than the title indicates.

To do work at the office with all possible skill, and care, and then to slip out to a hillside near Arkansas City and in full view of the Santa Fe tracks north of the city there to construct his "sermon on the mount"—a rock inscription 475 feet long—these were the chief ambitions of Mr. Horton.

Mr. Horton has been preaching his brief "sermon" day after day, year after year, for about thirty years, without ever entering a pulpit. It reads: "Christ Died for the Ungodly."

This quotation Mr. Horton has built of rocks in letters 10 feet high and whitewashed so that it can be seen for miles. Some of the letters are 40 feet in circumference. It has taken time, money and work to build the sermon. How many miles he had walked back and forth while collecting stones, it would be impossible to estimate. He has rebuilt the letters four times. He counted up that he walked 700 miles rebuilding the letters once. Frequently he has even worked by moonlight, for all the work has been done after office hours.

It costs from $50 to $100 a year to keep up the text, since it takes three barrels of whitewash costing $15 to "whitewash" twice a year to keep the giant letters visible, explains Mr. Horton. "Thousands of railway passengers, pedestrians and motorists see the verse. Some scoff, Mr. Horton says, but others read it and stop to think or perhaps go home to look it up in the Bible and read for themselves."

Horton is absolutely nonsectarian and trusts entirely to his silent sermon and his own methods of living to reach the public.

Links Work and Faith. Horton's religion and his work are closely united.

"Not even the president of the railroad is more interested or more anxious to have things run smoothly than a train dispatcher," he said. "No one is more anxious to hear 'trains whistle at the same time' than the train dispatcher. They like to live by clockwork. There is no more responsible or strenuous job, either. Now there are more automatic signals, the quick telephone service to supplement the wire, but even so washouts, long trains, floods, storms and such things are always on hand to make the life of a train dispatcher exciting. Sometimes it has seemed to me like playing checkers with trains across the map. I have worked straight through two shifts for 18 hours to relieve a fellow worker who was sick. I have often worked all day without stopping for a bite to eat."

"Fifty orders in eight hours are considered a good day's work. I have given out as many as 125 orders within eight hours besides the regular schedule orders."

Manipulating trains has become a sort of second nature to Horton. There have been times, he says, when he felt there was nothing left for him to do but pray that things would come out right.

"Once when I had three trains standing east and three west with only a blind siding between them, I did all I could and then prayed for divine help. Another time when someone failed to give an order for a train to wait at a station until a long overdue train arrived, and I knew there was only a blind siding without an operator between those trains, I knelt down by the tracks and prayed. I had a man climb to a telegraph pole and see if he could see what was happening. It was little short of a miracle that the train waited over for some reason, until the freight reached safely."

Woman Saves the Day.

"On another occasion an operator on the road forgot to flag a train. I had ordered to stop at a siding to let another pass. As soon as the train pulled out, the operator remembered the order. He was a quick thinker, however, and telephoned a woman up the line to stop the train. Dropping the phone, the woman rushed out and flagged the train with a red table cover and relayed the order."

"Such things naturally make a train dispatcher do considerable thinking. My thinking led me to the Bible and the Bible taught me to depend upon God both in my own life and my work."

In his daily life Mr. Horton lives simply. Born in Galesburg, Ill., 67 years ago, he attended school there until 1877. His brother taught him telegraphy and he took his first job at nineteen years of age on the C. B. & Q. railroad in his home town.

Naturalist Finds Owls

Can See in Daytime

Vancouver.—Dan McCowan, a naturalist and photographer of the Canadian Rockies at Banff, Alberta, has just discovered that owls can see in the daytime. McCowan, who has spent 20 years studying and photographing the wild life of the Banff National park, during which time he has taken more than 10,000 negatives, gives his judgment on the seeing capacities of the owl as follows:

"One day recently I climbed up a small Douglas fir near the Banff Springs hotel to photograph a nest full of young horned owls which could be snatched from the top of this tree in their nest in a big stump. I was just taking a closeup of the owls when the mother bird came at me in full flight, hit me in the back of the neck and knocked me out of the tree. I dropped about 25 feet, grasping various limbs as I fell, but being a Scotchman I kept a firm grip on my camera, which had cost money."

Only a short time previously McCowan had climbed 500 feet up the steep slopes of a cliff near Banff to reach an eagle's nest. He had just succeeded in photographing the young eaglets when their feathered protectors swooped down from a thousand feet above and made such menacing motions with their dangerous looking talons within a few feet of McCowan's face that he scurried down the cliff to safety.

Fortune in Gold Found

by Poor Family in Japan

Tokyo.—The Ishii family of Toki-wamachi had been having a hard time. Work had been scarce, sickness had piled up doctors' bills, and it was only through digging up old family relics and heirlooms from the family storehouse and selling these to the second-hand dealers that the daily rice could be secured.

Some days ago, in turning over the accumulated rubbish of generations in order to find something more that might be salable, the wife of the house discovered a number of little bars of some very heavy substance. She was quite pleased, because if these bars turned out to be of lead they would find a ready sale.

She lugged one into the house and started to scratch the grime from it. It was yellow gold. Before she had finished feverishly scratching all through the storehouse she had found 350,000 yen worth of gold bars, a family treasure long lost and forgotten.

The news stirred the neighborhood, and the village priest came to give the storehouse the benefit of his search. He dug out what was thought to be an old copper kettle that turned out to be of gold, and a still further going-over brought to light golden utensils of a value of 100,000 yen.

Old "Country Doctor"

Wins National Honor

New York.—An aged country doctor, whose work as a physician in "both body and soul" carried him from the obscurity of a Maine village to fame in the field of surgery, is to be honored by the New York members of the medical profession.

He is Dr. John George Gehring of Bethel, Maine, formerly a successful Cleveland surgeon. Doctor Gehring, seventy years old, is now retired.

The board of trustees of the New medical institute of the medical center here has voted to dedicate a complete ward floor in the new building of the institute in honor of Doctor Gehring. It was announced here.

Doctor Gehring's suggestion and auto-suggestion methods are credited with restoring to health countless patients and business men who had suffered from nervous exhaustion.

The best of charms is the ability to have the last check girl tipless and smiling.

Each Thinking Other

Dead, Brothers Meet

Mason City, Iowa.—Two brothers, each thinking the other the man who was found murdered in a box car, met face to face in a street here and the most promising clue to the man's identity went glimmering. The brothers are James Schell of Rummels, Iowa, and Phil Schell, an itinerant printer with temporary headquarters here.

Hearing of the murder the Rummels man came here and found every mark about the corpse to conform to those on his brother's body. He took charge of funeral arrangements.

The Mason City brother went into a pool hall and was told the name of the dead man had been found to be Schell. Convinced it was his brother, he hastened to the undertaking place to confirm his fears. He was on his way when he met his brother in the street.

Founder of Textile

Industry in America

Spinning as an industry in America was born in Pawtucket, R. I., December 20, 1790, when a young Englishman, Samuel Slater, completed the building of machines from plans he had carried in his memory to this country upon hearing that Americans were offering prizes for inventions to improve the textile industry.

He built the machines for one Moses Brown, who, with his partner, had mustered an army of hand-loom weavers that at top speed could produce 8,000 yards of cloth in a year. Americans had attempted to build machines modeled after the English type without success, but Slater, in less than a year, had completed a set of machines that startled everyone by running successfully at the first trial. Yankees, even at that early period, prided themselves upon their ingenuity and inventiveness, but proved themselves also game enough not to resent the young Englishman's success and came from far and near to learn to operate Slater's machines and set up in the new industry for themselves.—Kansas City Times.

Armchairs Once Luxuries

Armchairs only became possible with the breakdown of monarchical and feudal power and the decay of the old family and social hierarchies. In the European society of two or three hundred years ago it was impossible for anyone from the Holy Roman emperor and the king of France down to the poorest beggar, from the bearded patriarch to the baby-to-look in the presence of anyone else. Every man was always engaged in being impressive towards his inferiors, or respectful to those above him. It was only in the eighteenth century when the old hierarchies had begun to break up, that furniture began to become comfortable.—Aldous Huxley in Vanity Fair.

Strength Tests

Tests of strength have been made, and the following are given as the average figures for the white race: The "lifting powers" of a youth of seventeen is 250 pounds; in his twentieth year this increases to 320 pounds; and in the thirtieth year it reaches its height—305 pounds; at the end of the thirty-first year the strength begins to decline, very slowly at first. By the fortieth year it has decreased 81 pounds, and this diminution continues until the fiftieth year is reached, when the figure is 220 pounds. After this period the strength falls more and more rapidly until the weakness of old age is reached.

An Odd Violin Label

Johannes Rober, the well-known collector of violins, has one instrument of which he is particularly proud, since it contains a label which is a curiosity. The label is in old Latin and it reads: "Viva fuy in arvis: sum datus octava secunda. Dum vixi: tacui: mortuus, dulce cano." Which being interpreted means: "I was living in the forest; the cruel ex-slew me. While I was alive I was mute; dead, I sweetly sing." This violin is a product of the sixteenth century "lute" or violin maker named Gaspa. Dullfopgragar.

Income Increased Over a Billion

New York, May 19.—The national income of the United States was $78,649,000,000 in the year 1926, as against $77,313,000,000 in the preceding year and $70,768,000,000 in 1924, according to a study of national income and wealth made by the National Industrial Conference Board, 247 Park avenue, New York.

While this estimate of income is lower than some others recently published because it is based on the growth of production rather than on money incomes, it reveals the significant fact that our greatest increase in national income since 1909 occurred not during the war years or those immediately following, but since 1920, after the "boom" and inflation years were over, prices had been deflated and industry and commerce had settled down to a peacetime and fairly stable course.

Measuring the national income in terms of dollars of constant purchasing power, that is in "1913 dollars," so as to eliminate the violent price fluctuations during the war period, the Conference Board finds that the "real" national income increased 54.8 per cent or by more than half from 1909 to 1926, inclusive. Dividing the entire time into three periods, it was found that from 1909 to 1914, it increased 9.7 per cent, from 1914 to 1920 only 11.4 per cent, but 26.6 per cent from 1920 to 1926.

National income per capita of population, the board finds, in 1926, in terms of current dollars, was $571.43, and $1,805.37 per person gainfully employed. This does not mean, the board points out, that everybody received that much money, but that the total of goods and services produced during the year amounted to that much per person and per worker, respectively.

In this connection, the board specifically warns against the injudicious use of all figures of national income or wealth, particularly of such figures when stated in per capita terms, declaring that while they are invaluable in measuring national economic progress, the use of such data when applied without consideration of their definition or limitations may lead to most misleading conclusions.

The total national income as computed by the Conference Board for the after war period in terms of current as well as in "1913 dollars" for each separate year was as follows:

	In Current Dollars	In 1913 Dollars
1910	$68,280,000,000	$32,102,000,000
1920	71,833,000,000	33,641,000,000
1921	51,367,000,000	22,081,000,000
1922	51,021,000,000	21,974,000,000
1923	71,558,000,000	33,716,000,000
1924	70,768,000,000	33,107,000,000
1925	77,313,000,000	36,804,000,000
1926	78,649,000,000	38,292,000,000

By industry and persistence Sir Walter Scott pried himself out of debt with the point of his pen—and just look at the space he now occupies on the library shelf! Mark Twain was also notably successful in this rather unusual line of literary endeavor. So Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., has an encouraging record of past performance—by other people—to encourage him. He is now $3,000,000 in debt and while doing his own cooking in order to save money, is writing articles for publication in order to get money to pay out. Pen profits are somewhat variable, says the Mobile Register. John Milton netted about $100 from "Paradise Lost," but that was a good while ago and some of the best sellers authors have in recent years done much better. Cornelius has already achieved the preliminary publicity that is so necessary to creative genius, and so will not have to be introduced to the public. Now if he just has the knack, everything will be jake for the creditors.

Increase Your Weight 5 Pounds in 30 Days Or Money Back

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamins that make flesh, create appetite, build up the power to resist disease and puts good solid flesh on skinny men and women.

But it's repulsive in taste and smell and nearly every stomach rebels against it.

So now men and women who keep up with the times are taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—rich in flesh producing, health building, strength creating vitamins and as easy to take as candy.

Try them for 30 days if you want to fill out those scrawny hollows in chest, cheeks and neck and gain strength and vigor. And bear this in mind if they don't help you in that time any drugstore anywhere will return your money—But demand McCoy's 60 tablets 60 cents.

Dairymen of Hurley to Meet

At the request of dairymen in the township of Hurley a meeting has been called by the directors of the Ulster County Accredited Herd Cooperative Association to discuss the tuberculosis testing of cattle on the area basis. The meeting is scheduled to be held on Monday, May 23, at 7:30 p. m., standard time, in the town hall. Assemblyman Millard Davis, president of the organization, H. F. Flemming, county veterinarian, and F. M. Wigstein, manager of the Farm Bureau, will lead the discussion. Present indications register that over ninety per cent of the dairymen are in favor of the test to be considered.

About the Folks

Wilbert Van Demark is very ill at his home on Wilbur avenue. He is under the care of Dr. Sanford.

Minnie Arace was removed from her home, 27 Henry street, to the Kingston City Hospital in the ambulance on Wednesday afternoon.

Joseph Weiss of East Chester street, employed as auto mechanic in the county highway department, is slowly recovering from injuries received on April 19 while cranking one of the county's automobiles. The auto back fired and Mr. Weiss's hand and arm were badly injured that the arm became badly swollen. He is being attended by Dr. Van Gaasbeck.

Supper at Lake Katrine.

About the first of the year, or at least at some definite time in the year, the well-managed business-takes stock of itself. Its goods, its assets in general are listed and appraised. Without such a stock-taking there is no telling which way the business is headed. For want of such a measure, many a business man has gone bankrupt while supposing he was running at a profit. One may grade himself according to a lot of tea good personal economic practices: work and earn, make a budget, record expenditures, have a bank account, carry life insurance, own your home, make a will, invest in safe securities, pay bills promptly, share with others.

Guess Again

It was translation day in our Spanish class. We had Spanish sentences to translate into English, and it fell to my lot to take the first one. I started out, "I was to meet you," and then stopped, not knowing the next word.

The teacher waited a moment and then said, "I know you have one," and I sat strapping to think, said heartily, "yes."

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 19 (P).—A series of bullish demonstrations in the high priced industrial, several of which, including Baldwin, General Motors, American Smelting and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, touched new record high prices, contrasted with the weakness of the oil, textiles and New York tractions in today's irregular stock market. Trading was again in heavy volume.

Easy money rates, the renewal charge on call loans being fixed at four per cent, was again a leading "bull" factor. Some uneasiness developed, however, as the result of the decline in steel production. The Kansas City Southern, the first railroad to report its April earnings, showed a drop of $134,646 in net income compared with the same month of last year.

General Motors crossed 200, and Baldwin sold above 216, but heavy profit taking developed at those levels and both issues had cancelled all their gains by early afternoon. This failed, however, to check the bullish demonstrations in the other so-called "blue chip" stocks. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe touching 245, American Smelting 158, Peoples Gas 144 1/2 and Mack Trucks 117 1/2, or within 1/2 of the year's top. United Drug, R. H. Macy, Woolworth and American Express all sold 3 to 5 points higher.

The break in the tractions reflected apprehension over the outcome of the transit hearings to be started shortly. Interboro Rapid Transit dropping 4 points. American Woolen, common and preferred, dropped to new lows on disappointment over the trend of the textile business.

Speculative interest in the rails was confined to a handful of issues, with Union Pacific common and preferred, Baltimore and Ohio preferred, Chicago and Eastern Illinois common, and preferred and Pittsburgh and West Virginia breaking through to new 1927 tops.

Blacksmith Hangs Self.

Nelson Woodard, a former resident of Dry Brook, hung himself in his blacksmith shop at Arkville last Thursday. The body was found hanging by a rope passing the shop which is on the main highway. He is said to have been drinking heavily. The doors of the barn were open and until the corner arrived many people saw the gruesome sight of the body swinging in the breeze. Funeral services were held at Union Grove and interment was at Low Beach.

Agudas Achim Has New Rabbi

Dr. S. M. Machtel Accepts Call to West Union Street Synagogue and is Now in Charge of Congregation. Dr. S. M. Machtel has accepted a call to become rabbi of the Congregation Agudas Achim on West Union street and is now in charge of the synagogue. He will preach in Yiddish Saturday morning, the weekly portion of the law. The pupils of the Hebrew School, and the Sunday school will attend the synagogue for the Friday evening services at 7:30 and Saturday morning at 8:30.

The registration in the Sunday school and Hebrew school will be continued Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the school building, Spring and Post streets, to afford an opportunity to those who failed to register last Sunday.

Dr. Machtel is well known in this vicinity, having served in Hudson, Liberty and Middletown. He is an older former Liberty clergyman who is now in Kingston. The other is the Rev. G. B. Smith, Methodist district superintendent, who came to Kingston from Liberty. Dr. Machtel and Dr. Smith first knitted their friendship there.

Red Cross Fund Now $13,148.51

Although Ulster county's Red Cross quota of $12,000 for the relief of the Mississippi river flood victims has been raised, $13,148.51 having been contributed in the past 21 days, the need of funds still continues urgent and it is hoped that contributions will continue to be made.

Every cent that is contributed to the Red Cross is used in helping the flood victims, and as the financial need is urgent it is expected that Ulster county will continue to respond generously to the call.

Today's receipts were $210.31.

PORT EWEN

There will be a cafeteria supper in the Methodist Church House, Friday evening. A fine menu is being prepared. Supper will be served from 5:30 on. The big event will be the entertainment at 8 o'clock by the 50 or 60 young folks from Rifton. They ought to draw a full house.

All the young people interested in tennis are requested to meet this evening at 7:30 in the Sunday school room of the Reformed Church. At the meeting held last week the following officers were elected: President, Scott Vining; vice president, Robert Torrens; secretary, Beatrice Polhemus; treasurer, Mildred Freer.

Bertaud Will Not Make Paris Trip

New York, May 19 (P).—Lloyd Bertaud will not make the Paris flight in the Bellanca monoplane with Clarence Chamberlin and his successor is already selected, Charles A. Levine, head of the company, backing the flight, told The Associated Press today.

Adverse weather reports further delayed the Bellanca flight. Stormy areas between here and the Newfoundland coast also held to earth Commander Richard E. E. Byrd's giant Fokker monoplane America, and Captain Charles "Lucky" Lindbergh's Ryan monoplane "Spirit of St. Louis."

Marked activity about the Byrd hangar today, however, indicated completion of final preparations for the flight of the America. Mechanics hustled about the huge craft, making it ready for what may be its last test flight preparatory to "probable start tomorrow."

Illinois House Again Votes Wet

Springfield, Ill., May 19 (P).—The Illinois house of representatives for the second time this session has turned thumbs down on prohibition. It voted 80 to 63 late yesterday for a state-wide referendum on repeal of the state prohibition enforcement laws, including the search and seizure act.

The Chicago delegation, voting almost solidly for repeal, had the support of 29 downstate representatives, almost equally divided in party affiliation. The vote, which was on the Weber-O'Grady bill, followed a delivery of oratory in which prohibition was blamed in part for agricultural depression, an increase of crime, for making "this a nation of lawbreakers" and for increasing instead of decreasing drunkenness.

Local Death Record

Solomon W. Jones died Wednesday at his home, No. 211 North street. He is survived by his wife and three children, William, Bernard and Mabel. Clifford L. O'Brien died at his home in Saxton on Tuesday in his fifty-first year. He is survived by his mother, three sisters, Mrs. Leslie Woodruff of Ballston Spa, and Agnes and Hattie; and a brother, Sanford O'Brien. Funeral services from the late home, Friday afternoon in charge of the Rev. F. W. Moot of Kingston, Interment Katsbaan Cemetery.

John T. Ronk, editor of the Newburgh Journal for several years prior to the sale of that paper by former Governor Benjamin B. Odell, in 1917, and its merger with the Newburgh News, died at Newburgh Wednesday. He was 57 years old and had suffered a paralytic shock ten weeks ago. After the sale of the Journal Mr. Ronk was Mr. Odell's secretary for several years.

Sylvanus Van Steenberg died Wednesday at his home in Saugerties in his eighty-sixth year. He is survived by his wife and four sons, Nathan, Clyde, Miller and Arthur Van Steenberg, and a brother, Nathan Van Steenberg of Cedar Grove. He was a member of William H. Raymond Lodge, No. 59, I. O. O. F., and was a widely known and respected resident of Saugerties. Funeral service from the late residence, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The funeral of William Baglivi, who was more familiarly known as "The Duke," was held from his late home, 112 First avenue, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, thence to St. Mary's Church, where at 9:30 a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Francis X. Fitzpatrick. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, together with a number of spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards which were laid near the casket. Tuesday evening the Knights of Columbus, led by their worthy Grand Knight, Florian P. Wingert, visited the home of the deceased brother, and recited the Holy Rosary. The delegation from the Knights of Columbus acted as an honorary escort while the casket bearers were Charles Nettis, Sergio Anthony, Nicholas De Nuncio, Americo Gatto, Nicholas Sorillo and Alexander Miglino. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved family, who within the space of fourteen months have buried three children, two daughters and a son. St. Mary's children's choir sang the responses during the Mass and at the conclusion sang "Jesus, Jesus, Come to Me." The Rev. Father Fitzpatrick accompanied the cortege to St. Mary's Cemetery and gave the final blessing at the grave as the body was laid to rest.

Truck loads of fixtures have arrived from New York and are being installed in the newly erected store building for the Enterprise Market, which will be opened in a few days at 232 Wall street.

The fixtures are all new, of the latest style, because of the glass and silver plate. The most department will be in charge of George J. Kutzman and John A. Many Killed in Spring Storms

Rain and Wind Cause Several Deaths and Great Property Loss in Peoria, Ill., and Indianapolis, Ind.

Chicago, May 19 (P).—Peoria, Ill., and Indianapolis, Ind., were hardest hit in the latest of a series of spring storms which lashed through portions of Indianapolis and Illinois late yesterday.

Several persons were believed to have drowned at Peoria, where six inches of rain fell within a few hours, flooding downtown streets and basements, trying up railroad, automobile and street car traffic and sending farm creeks on a rampage.

Government boats were sent into the lowlands of East Peoria to rescue 200 families driven from their homes by the rising creek. Newspaper reporters who toured the area brought estimates to Peoria early today of a possible death list of 5 to 15 in East Peoria and Pekin. More than one hundred persons were injured in Indianapolis, some seriously, when an 80-mile an hour wind struck that city, flattening a number of houses outside the downtown area and blowing down a gas-pipe mission tent while services were in progress. Telephone and telegraph wires throughout the city were crippled. The storm damage was estimated at $3,000,000.

Defending Forces Are Victorious

Newport, R. I., May 19 (P).—The joint army and navy maneuvers ended at 12:25, eastern standard time, today when the blue defending forces won a sweeping victory in defeating the blacks who sought to invade New York and southern New England.

Free Super Six Rides for All

Hudson Super-Six Demonstration Week is announced. All over the country, and in the city, the big Hudson Super-Sixes are out to prove the speed, power, acceleration and hill climbing ability which are claimed for them. The Demonstration Week starting May 23 locally is announced by Peter A. Black, Hudson-Exeter dealer distributor. If any motor enthusiast in the city fails to get a ride, Mr. Black cannot be blamed, for he is eager to acquaint every person who owns, drives or has ambitions to own a car with the varied qualities of this new Super-Six.

P.T.A. Federated Council Meets

Endorses Playgrounds for Children, Hears Reports of Spring Conference and Elects Officers for Coming Year.

The May meeting of the Federated council of Parent-Teacher Associations was held on Wednesday afternoon at Kingston High School.

A letter was read from J. W. Faust, chairman of national recreation committee, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, asking the co-operation of the council in securing playground space for children when new sections of the community are developed.

The increase of automobiles on the public streets making them dangerous play spots for children, it is growing increasingly necessary to provide open spaces for play. City real estate planning should make cities of the future better places to bring up children. Upon real estate men more than upon any other leaders depends the extent to which growing parts of cities shall be real homes for children and men and women living in them.

The council voted to endorse the sentiments expressed in this letter.

Mrs. Dederick announced that Miss G. B. Miner, child labor field secretary, who was to have addressed the council, was detained by illness.

The spring conference held at Cornwall-on-Hudson last Saturday was generally discussed, the delegates who were present giving their impressions of its various features, after which Mrs. A. J. Swanson, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following names: For president, Mrs. Arthur H. Russell; first vice president, Mrs. R. H. D. Boerker; second vice president, Mrs. W. A. Longyear; secretary, Miss Marguerite Cordes; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Whiston. These were all unanimously elected.

The retiring president, Mrs. Harry P. Dederick, thanked the council members for their cooperation in all her work in the four years she held the presidency.

The new president took the chair and gave a few words of greeting, bespeaking the same loyal backing that had been given Mrs. Dederick.

She appointed two chairmen: Press chairman, Mrs. W. R. Anderson, and child welfare chairman, Mrs. Harry P. Dederick.

PIONEER VETS OF F 51 TO HOLD ANNUAL REUNION.

The members of the Pioneer Veterans of F 51 will journey to Golden Rule Inn next Thursday evening, May 26, where they will hold their fourth annual reunion and election of officers.

The members will meet at the armory at 7 o'clock and be conveyed to the inn by autos. Members who have not yet sent in their card stating whether or not they expect to attend are requested to do so in order that the social committee may make proper plans for the banquet.

It is expected this reunion will surpass the others and a good time is in store for all who attend.

Went Island to Seek Safety From Enemies

Many of the islands in the Solomon group display evidence of having been thickly populated along the shores, though all of the villages now occupied by natives are back from the sea. Their present location was necessitated by the fact that for perhaps centuries the natives living in one village would make raids on the villages of other islands, killing many and taking as many captives as possible, writes Robert W. Williamson in "The Ways of the South Sea Savage." Portions of the coastline of Kulambanga island bear evidence of having been thickly populated, but these inter-village conflicts have long since driven the coast inhabitants into the interior, whither it is unsafe to follow them. There are, however, several small villages of primitive natives along the shores of neighboring islands, and since the coming of the white man's rule, wars among villages have been put down so that these coastal villages have little to fear.—Detroit News.

Character of Glass

Only Recently Known

The manufacture of glass antedates authentic history. It is only about three-quarters of a century, however, since its true character was ascertained. It is now generally conceded to be a salt—a chemical compound resulting from the union of an acid with a base. The acid is silica, the same that is found in quartz, or the quartz particles of sand. Hence the use of sand in its manufacture.

The base may be potash (or soda), together with alumina and lime—or lead may take the place of lime. Lime makes a hard glass, one less susceptible to acids and suited to windows and chemical purposes. Lead, a softer, more fusible and more lustrous article, suitable for optical instruments.

All acids act to some extent on glass, especially if the latter has an excess of alkali. Even wine may corrode the bottles wherein it is contained. The moisture of the air often dissolves out the alkali, causing the rainbow-like colors (iridescence) of some window panes.

Lucretia Mott's Diplomacy

Lucretia Mott, who helped to form the anti-slavery society in Philadelphia in 1833 and who soon afterward founded the Female Anti-Slavery society, took an active part in the affairs of these societies. When a New York anti-slavery society session was broken up by a mob, many of its speakers were roughly handled. Perceiving that many of the women were afraid, Mrs. Mott said to her escort, "Won't thee look after some of the others?"

"But who will take care of you?" she asked.

"This man," laying her hand on the arm of one of the roughest of the mob. "He will see me safely through." The astonished man, with respectful manner, took her to a place of safety. —Kansas City Star.

Railways Old as Solomon

When asked by her teacher, "In whose reign do we first hear of railways?" a little girl replied, "In Solomon's."

"She was asked to think again, but persisted in her original statement, and the teacher then inquired why she thought so."

"Because," replied the little girl, "we are told in the Bible that the queen of Sheba went to Jerusalem with a very great train."

Find Old Reflectors

In an iron case, concealed behind a wall, the first of the two great telescope reflectors with a 6-foot aperture, constructed 150 years ago by Sir William Herschel, the famous astronomer, for his 40 foot astronomical telescope, has been found during alterations to an old cottage adjoining the observatory house at Slough, England. Sir William Herschel devoted his life to the construction and use of reflecting telescopes for astronomy, and the fame of his instruments was rapidly spread by the brilliant discoveries which he accomplished by their aid.

Led First Crusade

Peter the Hermit, the famous preacher of the crusades, was a monk of Amiens, in northwestern France. Toward the end of the Eleventh century he roused western Europe by his vehement but eloquent recitals of the indignities heaped upon Christian pilgrims to the Holy land by the Mohammedans. He led a crusade of hastily raised volunteers, most of whom perished. Later Peter saw Jerusalem taken by the regular army. He returned to Belgium, and became prior of Hay, near Liege, where he died in 1116.
